If your hair is dull and lifeless, is falling out and getting thin on top, then you need Parisian Sage, and the quicker you get it, the sooner you will thank the Newlin Drug Co. for selling you such a worthy dependable hair grower, dandruff cure and hair dressing.

Read what Mrs. M. A. May, of 107 East Elizabeth St., Detroit, Mich., writes on June 6, 1910:

"I have used many hair restorers but have received no apparent benefit until I tried Parisian Sage. My hair is soft and silky, and while before I commenced using the remedy my hair was falling fast, was dry and harsh, faded, and altogether unlovely now just within the past few weeks several have remarked how lovely my hair was. It is also fine just for a dressing, leaving the hair soft and fluffy. It removes dandruff, and cures itching of the scalp. I certainly take pleasure in recommending Parisian Sage."

Parisian Sage is sold by the Newlin Drug Co. and druggists everywhere. Get a 50 cent bottle today, use it for two weeks and if you are not satisfied that it will do all that it is advertised to do you can have your money back. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package.

Society and Clubs

A week that teemed with receptions to prominent citizens taking their departure for other climes, of parties and balls, crowding out the routine interest in card parties and clubs—is drawing to a close tonight. Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Smith and daughter, Miss Jeanette; Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Rinehart, and Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Gibson, have been feted and honored with many important and elaborate functions. Miss Jeanette Smith was especially popular during the week figuring as motif practically every evening of the week.

Outdoing any former effort in a social way, proving to those present that nothing is too big to undertake, and that almost perfection is not only a possibility but almost an assured feature with Elks, members of that order held their annual ball and banquet Wednesday evening and through the entire night merriment and good fellowship resounded from every corner of the auditorium, parlors and banquet hall. It was one of those joyful occasions when the world was forgotten and congenial people congregated by the score, from different parts of the country. Not a detail was neglected to make the occasion the great success that it was. Every visitor was soon at ease and had the freedom of the evening as much as any one born and raised in La Grande.

Assembling about 9 o'clock one hundred and ten couples witnessed the magnificent interior decorations of the Elk's building. The auditorium was tastefully decorated with evergreen and on all sides was seen royal purple. In the center of her room a star of lights was suspended from the ceiling, while on the floor the beautiful life size mounted Elk owned by the order stood in a thicket of evergreen. Thy electric lights of different colors showed through the evergreen thicket.

An augmented orchestra furnished charming music for the occasion and every dancer admitted the whole event to be the acme of human effort to promote a royal social time.

Just before the clock indicated eleven the hall was darkened leaving only the emblem of the order burning and all Elks marched to the little Indian maiden who gracefully served punch in a log cabin at one corner of the auditorium and each procured a glass. The semi-circle was formed, and as the gong sounded eleven strokes F. B. Conner recited a fitting tribute to the absent brothers, closing by proposing a toast to those who were not present. The effect of this little drama was indeed touching and all ladies present complimented the order.

Dancing was then continued until shortly after midnight when a line of march was formed and all present ascended the stairway to the banquet hall. It would be hard to describe in proper words the picture as one stood on the first landing and reviewed that line of march. Conspicuous therein was a great deal of the motive power of this valley—men who do things, men who are active in all the different walks of life, each accompanied by his wife, his sister or his sweetheart.

It is but proper here to state that every Elk realized upon entering the banquet hall, the time has about arrived when No. 433 must have a larger home, for the crowd was larger than hall would accommodate. Special credit is due the refreshment committee, not only for the splendid menu but the way the guests were cared for under crowded conditions. When all were seated and the orchestra, which by the way was no small part of this excellent social event, had changed its position from the ball room to the banquet hall considerable time was spent in partaking of the delicious spread.

Following the block coffee and cigars came the toasts. Exalted Ruler Biggers responded to "No. 433" and he made a telling speech both for all Elks and the local lodge. Reviewing the work done here the speaker drifted into humorous vein and when he retired from the floor loud applause followed him. Charles E. Cochran, one of Eastern Oregon's best orators, responded to "Our Country" and as usual brought forth even a stronger appreciation of his talent from those assembled. Mentioning the state legislature which has just adjourned, Mr. Cochran urged that ev-

ARE MICROBES IN YOUR SCALP?

It Has Been Proved That Microbes Cause Baldness.

Professor Unna of Hamburg, Germany, and Dr. Sabouraud, the leading French dermatologist, discovered that a microbe causes baldness. Their theory has time and again been amply verified through research experiments carried on under the observation of eminent scientists. This microbe lodges in the Sebium, which is the natural hair oil, and when permitted to flourish it destroys the hair follicles and in time the pores entirely close, and the scalp gradually takes on a shiny appearance. When this happens there is no hope of the growth of hair being revived.

We have a remedy which will, we honestly believe, remove dandruff, exterminate the microbe, promote good circulation in the scalp and around the hair roots, tighten and revitalize the hair roots and overcome baldness, so long as there is any life left in the hair roots.

We back up this statement with our own personal guarantee that this remedy called Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will be supplied free of all cost to the user if it fails to do as we state.

It will frequently restore gray and faded hair to its original color, providing loss of color has been caused by disease; yet it is in no sense a dye. Rexall "93" Hair Tonic accomplishes these results by making every hair root, follicle and pigment gland strong and active, and by stimulating a natural flow of coloring pigment throughout the hair cells.

We exact no obligations or promises—we simply ask you to give Rexall "93" Hair Tonic a thorough trial and if not satisfied tell us and we will refund the money you paid us for it. Two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain it only at our store—The Rexall Store, Hill's Drug Store.

YOU CAN ORDER your COAL by TELEPHONE?

THE TELEPHONE is the coal man's best salesman.

Many of his customers he never sees, for their orders come by wire and their checks by mail.

If you move into a new house or have an unexpected need of fuel, you can often save a day's time by telephoning your order.

In the mining and shipping of coal, the Bell Telephone has become an important factor. The wholesale markets and sources of supply are kept in constant touch with the Bell Long Distance Service and the danger of a coal famine greatly reduced.

everything may not be as bad as painted and called to mind that precedent has established many things which only in late years have become known as political crimes. He told of the Nation's great men in brief, paid a glowing tribute to the flag and coupled the Elk's loyalty to country with every move for advancement.

W. B. Sargent spoke on "Portland for 1912" and did not fail to make everyone understand that the Grande Ronde valley and La Grande will play an important part in this national event. He urged everyone to support the movement for the national convention and to be mindful that some trips from the metropolis be included, in the itinerary of Elks from the Eastern and Middle states.

A toast which is always popular and never fails to entwine the heart-strings of Elksdom is "Our Mothers, Wives and Sweethearts." H. E. Cooldge responded in a manly way that brought forth that intense respect and admiration for womankind possessed in man. The speaker dealt with his subject in a firm yet tender manner pointing to the work of woman and the important part she has played in all events since time began. His speech met with earnest appreciation on all sides, for at no time it seems is an Elk too deeply engrossed with a good time spirit to stop for a few moments and pay tribute to the mothers, wives and sweethearts.

Responding to "Our Visitors" M. B. Donohue dealt humorously with humanity, calling attention to the fact everyone likes occasionally to visit and that Elks are no exception to the rule. Reciting several stories to illustrate points brought out Mr. Donohue captured his audience in a most graceful way.

"Our Absent Brothers" was C. R. Eberhard's theme and his remarks caused all to bear in mind that while the evening was most enjoyable and an occasion of mirth the absent ones were not forgotten at any time. Mentioning the event that occurred at eleven o'clock Mr. Eberhard dwelt upon the broadness of that feature, stating that throughout the world where an Elk may wander he is conscious of kind remembrance of his brothers just before the midnight hour.

The last speaker on the program was F. B. Conner who responded in a splendid way to the toast "Our Order." He revered the name of Washington but also paid a tribute to Chas. Vivian, founder of the B. P. O. E. After recalling many of the achievements he recited a pretty poem describing an Elk's inward feelings toward humanity.

The banquet closed by drinking a toast to "Our Order and Our Ladies." Immediately following all repaired to the ball room and dancing continued until about four o'clock on Thursday morning.

A novel feature of the evening was the awarding of a handsome Roman gold diamond studded pendant to Miss Mae White, for having the cheapest yet neatest gown. Miss White responded in a very pretty speech. While the contest for cheap, yet neat, gowns, was of considerable interest it did not entirely take away the desire on the part of the ladies to appear in superb attire for there were many very handsome and costly gowns to be seen at this function. Dr. Biggers also presented Miss White with a valuable Elk tooth to go with the pendant.
