COMMITTEE REPORT SOON

Local Apple Men will be Represented at Walla Walla Gathering.

A meeting of much moment to the Grande Ronde fruit growers will be held at Walla Walla this week and will be attended by C. S. Williams, as representative of the Grande Ronde growers, when an adjourned meeting of the Northwest apple growers will reconvene and listen to a report of a committee appointed at the first meeting. The primary object of this meeting will be to adopt or act on the report of this committee which has had several weeks' time in which to reach a decision, relative to the manner of conserving the output of the Northwest. The chief problem before the Northwest shippers is to handle the crop with any degree of success. When prices and quotations indicate a sound and remunerative market in the mid-dlewest, all fruit sections are advised accordingly and simultaneously, and, also, unload a car or two simultaneously with the result that the particular good reports from the east are knocked to pieces by a great overflow of apples. It is a stupendous problem and a committee of fifteen men, the best versed in the Northwest, have been working on the subject for weeks and will report their findings at the Walla Walla meeting.

The Arcade's Feature.

Fate's Turning—John Lawson, Jr., owing to his father's illness has borne the burden of responsibility, suffers a nervous breakdown. His father now well enough to look after affairs suggests he take the rest cure at a summer resort. This he decides to do, and bidding adieu to his fiancée he departs, arriving at the summer hotel the same day. In the dining hall he is attended by a pretty waitress to whom he takes a great fancy. Several days elapsing, we find him deeply smitten with the girl to the neglect of his fiancée to whom he fails to write. Escorting the girl to her home, they become betrothed, he presenting her with an engagement ring, promising to marry her immediately.

After a week or two, John is called hurriedly to his home as his father's health has taken a bad turn, his life being despaired of. So urgent is the message that he does not have time to see the girl before his departure. His father dies and in the excitement of the occasion he has almost forgotten the little waitress, when a letter of appeal comes from her, John now taking his father's place in society and in business, reasons that an alliance with the waitress is out of the question and writes to her to that effect. The ending is an interesting part of the story.

COSTS BUT A TRIFLE

TO CURE CATARRH

How many readers of the Observer know that in Inland Australia where the mightiest of eucalyptus trees grow in abundance, that there is no consumption, catarrh or diseases of the respiratory tract.

The refreshing balsam thrown out by these trees fills the air and is breathed into the lungs by the inhabitants and all germ life is destroyed.

If you have catarrh you cannot go to Inland Australia except at great expense, but you can breathe right in your own home the same pleasant, soothing, healing, germ killing air you would breathe if you were living in the eucalyptus district of Australia.

Just breathe HYOMEI; it is made from Australian eucalyptus and scientifically combined with thymol and other antiseptics employed in the Listerian system.
