Will Hold Special Colonist Day on March 10, With New Rates.

Portland, Oregon, March 8.—(Special)—Eugene will have a special Colonist Day on March 10, when people of that city will write to some eastern friend telling why they like to live in Eugene. School children will join in the campaign of personal advertising and will be encouraged to send illustrated booklets issued by the Eugene Commercial club. Postage on these letters will be paid by the club.

Teachers promise to interest their pupils in the work and special time will be taken for it. Considerable descriptive matter about the northwest will be included in the letters, giving the people addressed a better idea of the country and tending to create a desire to visit that section. The Eugene idea might well be adopted by other cities.
