FAMOUS MURDER TRIAL MONDAY

FORT WORTH SHOOTING AFFAIR IS TO BE AIRED MONDAY.

Killing of One Woman Through Jealousy Woman is Subject of Trial.

Fort Worth, Tex., March 30.—For the first time in many years a woman charged with murder in the first degree is to be placed on trial in this city next Monday. The defendant in the case is Mrs. T. M. Brooks, wife of a prominent attorney, and her trial upon the charge of having shot and killed Mrs. Mary Binford, department manager of a local dry goods store, is to begin next Monday in the Sixty-seventh district court.

The crime with which Mrs. Brooks is charged, was committed on January 16 of this year and is believed to have been prompted by jealousy. Neither Mrs. Brooks nor her husband have shown any inclination to make a statement that would indicate the cause of the tragedy, but for some time there have been rumors strongly hinting that Mrs. Brooks did not live happily with her husband and that she believed her husband's affection had been alienated by Mrs. Binford, who was divorced about two years ago and was considered a rather fascinating and handsome woman. It is expected that at the coming trial some light will be thrown upon the relations between the defendant and her husband and between the latter and the victim of the tragedy and this prospect has greatly intensified the public interest in the case.

Whatever may have been the marital complications, whether Mrs. Brooks' jealousy was well founded or based merely upon a tissue of her own imagination, is still a mystery. At all events, however, it seemed real enough to the defendant at the time of her desperate deed. Armed with a big, old-fashioned revolver, Mrs. Brooks, on the afternoon of January 16, made her way to the dry goods store, where Mrs. Binford was employed. While she passed through the whole length of the lower floor on her way to the elevator, Mrs. Brooks met many acquaintances. Smilingly she bowed and stopped several times to chat pleasantly with her friends, not one of whom suspected for a moment that a few minutes later Mrs. Brooks would be the chief actor in a tragedy.

Mrs. Brooks took the elevator to the second floor of the establishment where Mrs. Binford was employed. As she stepped from the elevator Mrs. Brooks inquired where she could find Mrs. Binford, and as the latter approached, Mrs. Brooks, without saying a word or giving any warning, pulled her big revolver from her muff. Mrs. Binford, realizing her danger, grappled with Mrs. Brooks and tried to wrest the weapon from her. Her strength was no match, however, for that of Mrs. Brooks and the latter quickly freed herself and forced the other woman against the wall. In the scuffle the weapon was discharged the bullet plowing its way through Mrs. Binford's hand.

With her victim at bay, Mrs. Brooks stepped back and fired four times. The second ball struck Mrs. Binford in the left shoulder, the third one inch higher, and the fourth entered the base of the neck, shattering the spinal vertebra. Just before her victim sank to the floor, Mrs. Brooks fired again the bullet striking Mrs. Binford behind the ear, coming out through the top of the head.

There were probably a hundred or more witnesses to the tragedy. Shoppers and clerks alike seemed to be paralyzed by hysterical fright and without hindrance Mrs. Brooks passed through the crowd and reached the office of her husband, two blocks distant. She handed the revolver to her husband and with the murmured words "I am sorry," she sank to the floor unconscious. Later she was arrested and after waiving a preliminary trial, was released under $10,000 bail.

SCHEDULE K OPPOSED.

Baker Commercial Club Petitions Taft on Wool Schedule.
Not only is the National Wool Growers association protesting against the immediate revision of schedule K, which deals with wool and woolsens, but many other organizations in the west are protesting because of the effect it will have on the wool market, says the Baker Herald.

The Baker Commercial club today sent the following message to President Taft:
Baker, Ore., March 29, 1911.
Hon. W. H. Taft,
Executive Mansion,
Washington, D. C.

It is the sense of the legislative committee of this body that schedule K be not revised at this time. The wool growers soon will have their clips on sale and any agitation will have a demoralizing effect on the market.

As the tariff board is collecting data for the use of congress, showing the cost of producing wool in this and foreign countries, we deem it wise to postpone revision of schedule K until this board submits its report to congress.

A Cold, LaGrippe, then Pneumonia

Is too often the fatal sequence. Foley's Honey and Tar expels the cold, checks the lagrippe, and prevents pneumonia. It is a prompt and reliable cough medicine that contains no narcotics. "Foley's Honey and Tar is the best cough remedy ever used as it quickly stopped a severe cough that had long troubled me," says J. W. Kuhn, Princeton, Neb. Just so quickly and surely it acts in all cases of coughs, colds, lagrippe and lung trouble. It is as safe for your children as yourself, and should be used in all cases of croup, whooping cough and measles cough. Refuse substitutes Hill's drug store.
