TAX LAW JARRED.

Maine Legislature Rejects Measure Like Many Others.

Augusta, Me., March 30.—The proposed constitutional tax amendment received what may prove a fatal setback today. The legislature rejected a resolution favoring its adoption. Unless some other states undergo a reversal of feeling toward the amendment, the action of the Maine legislature effectually killed the proposed amendment as Maine is the twelfth state to decide against it. Twelve have not voted yet, and 22 favor the adoption.

FATHER KILLED DAUGHTER.

Indications, at Least, Point to Such a Conclusion.

Wilkesbarre, March 30.—Feeling is running high against John Hertzoghan of Duryea, near here, who was arrested following the discovery of the horribly mutilated body of his daughter, Theresa, aged 15 on the railroad track. In addition to the murder charge, it is asserted he had unnatural relations with his daughter.

A neighbor found him covered with blood in his home and a bloody trail to the railroad.

Former American in Trouble.

Nogales, Mex., March 30.—Charged with bribing Mexican federal soldiers to desert, A. M. Salesby, a prominent merchant, is under arrest. Friends of the prisoner appealed to the American government for aid but as he is now a naturalized Mexican citizen it is believed little can be done.

Canadian Miners to Strike.

Fernie, B. C., March 30.—Coal Creek and Fernie miners are ready to strike Saturday. The minister of labor at Ottawa has offered to intervene in the hope of settling difficulties but he has not been invited thus far. Trouble is looked for.

Chinese Attack Denied.

St. Petersburg, March 30.—Reports today so far do not confirm the report the Chinese surrounded and attacked Blagovestchensk, the capital of Russia's province. If it is true it is believed that the work was done by outlaws and not Chinese troops.

BRIGNOLI IN A RAGE.

An Unappreciative Audience and a Sympathetic Servant.

Brignoli, the famous Italian tenor, always expected an encore, no matter where or what he sang, and if it was not forthcoming he was off in a rage instantly. In some small town he sang his favorite song, "Com e Gentil," a serenade from Donizetti's "Don l'assuole," with unusual care and walked off the stage perfectly satisfied, pausing at the wings to listen to the applause. To his utter amazement there was not a sound of approbation. He strode into the dressing room muttering that he would not respond to an encore; he would refuse to sing another song. Still the house remained silent. "No," he cried to those about him: "I refuse to sing again. I refuse to respond to the encore."

Barbagelata, who was more clever than the ordinary servant, humbly approached and said:

"Signor Brignoli, you sang that like an angel. The people could not appreciate it."

The old fellow nearly wept. "Barbagelata," he exclaimed, "give me your hand. I did not know you were such a musician. Tagliapietra, I must introduce you to Barbagelata, my servant," turning to "Tag," who stood near by. "He is a great musician," went on Brignoli, still in a temper. "He appreciates my singing more than all those fools."

INSTANT DEATH.

It Is Not So Quick but That the Mind Has Time to Act.

It is questionable if such a phenomenon as instant death is known to the scientist and investigator. Physicians and surgeons tell us that death by gunshot wound is the earliest mode of terminating life; yet, rapid as such a mode of taking off must necessarily be, the body has leisure to feel and time to reflect and on rare occasions even to act.

On the first attempt of one of the adherents of the Spanish monarch to assassinate William, prince of Orange, the ball passed through the bones of his face and brought him to the ground. In the instant which preceded stupefaction, however, he was able to frame the notion that the ceiling of a room had fallen in and crushed him.

Another question in this connection is that of probable pain. Although numerous instances could be cited in support of the view that the mind acts in cases of so-called instant death, it by no means follows that the infliction of a fatal blow is attended by the least semblance of pain or a single pang of fear or regret. Unless death results immediately, however, the pain may be as varied as the nature of the injuries.

Strict Golf.

"You mustn't touch the ball, use a stick."

"How am I going to get it out of a mudhole with a stick? Caddy, go over to the clubhouse and borrow a pair of tongs."—Pittsburg Post.

RADIANT HAIR.

Any Woman Can Have It by Using Parisian Sage.

Madam: If your hair isn't just what you would like it to be why don't you use Parisian Sage.

If it does not put life and luster into the hair and cause it to grow abundantly you can have your money back. "I cannot say enough in its favor, from Newlin Drug company.

Two years ago I lost all my hair. I saw Parisian Sage advertised and I thought I would try it. Before I had finished using the first bottle my hair had stopped falling and my head was covered with new hair, also removed all dandruff and today I have a lovely head of hair.

"I think Parisian Sage the best hair restorer and dandruff cure in the world today. It also makes the hair clean, fluffy, and silky, and I would recommend it to every one who wishes a hair restorer and beautifier."—Miss Mary E. Dickson, 237 South avenue, Bridgeton, N. J. 1910.

For men, women and children, there is no hair preparation that equals Parisian Sage; it never disappoints; it does just what the American makers advertise it to do. It banishes dandruff, kills the dandruff germ, stops falling hair or scalp itch, or money back. Sold by Newlin Drug company and druggists everywhere. Large bottle 50 cents.
