MRS. A. J. MARTIN PASSES AWAY

DEATH COMES AFTER FIVE YEARS OF SUFFERING.

Wife of O. W. Storekeeper Died at Noon—A Resident for 15 Years

After five years of suffering, much of it excruciating, especially of late, Mrs. A. J. Martin, wife of O. W. Storekeeper Martin, died at noon today of rheumatism. Death was not wholly unexpected for she has been in a precarious condition for several days. Five years ago she was made an invalid by the ravages of the painful disease and almost continually since that date has been in pain. Her husband and a daughter, Miss Irma, a popular young lady of the high school student body, survive the deceased. Funeral arrangements had not been definitely set this afternoon but will probably be next Monday.

Mrs. Martin, nee Clementina Swartz, was born in Columbus, Ohio, about 50 years ago. In 1893 she came to La Grande and was married to A. J. Martin and has lived here continually since. Mrs. Martin was made a recluse of late by the painful disease and though her condition was realized by the family of late surprise was caused among her friends at the news of her demise this noon. The bereaved family has the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

Classified Advertising

Does 'Em All Good.

The advantages to be derived from the classified columns of the Evening Observer are becoming well known. A. L. Jones, Imbler recently spent $1.75 in this column and closed a deal representing more than a thousand dollars. Some La Grande business men were offered $1,000 for a piece of property and they decided to advertise it first. They spent $2.50 in the classified column and sold the property for $200 more than they were first offered. One lady phoned in recently saying, "Take out my rooms for rent ad. People are driving me crazy making inquiries and my house has been full since the second day I ran the ad."

Haven't you got something you would like to trade; some property you want to sell? Remember there is nothing too small to advertise in this column and nothing too large. The price is a cent a word each day. Try it.

News Forecast for Coming Week.

Washington, April 1.—The assembling of the extraordinary session of congress called to consider the subject of reciprocity with Canada will be the feature news event of the week. As it will be a new congress—the Sixty-second—the work of organization will probably consume the greater part of the week. President Taft's message is expected to be received by both houses on Wednesday, the day following the opening of the session.

The meeting of congress may perhaps have a strong rival for first place in the news columns in the reconvening of the supreme court of the United States, provided that body hands down its long-expected decision in the trust cases when it meets Monday after a two weeks' recess.

Leaving San Francisco Sunday night or early Monday morning, Colonel Roosevelt will visit Reno, Sacramento, Eugene, Portland, Tacoma and Seattle, arriving in Spokane at the end of the week.

Charles D. Hilles assistant secretary of the treasury, will begin his duties Monday as secretary to the president, succeeding Charles D. Morton, who has resigned to become vice president of the First National Bank of New York.

A convention of North Dakota farmers and business men has been called to meet in Grand Forks Tuesday to make formal protest against the proposed reciprocity agreement with Canada.

The Georgia prison commission will hold a hearing Thursday on petitions for the pardon of Edgar Stripling, the chief of police of Danville, Va., who was recently arrested after 14 years' freedom, and returned to Georgia to serve a life term for murder.

The National Electric Light association will hold an important meeting in New York Saturday to consider the relation of the national and state governments to the conservation and utilization of water power.

The new commerce court has designated Monday as the day for the beginning of hearings before the court. The sessions will be held in Washington.
