The baseball meeting scheduled for last Saturday night was not held owing to small attendance. The matter of fencing the grounds and organizing and supporting a team were discussed but no action was taken.—Walla Walla Sun.

The La Grande high school baseball team opens its season at Cove with Cove today, the team leaving this morning under tutorage of Prof. Caruth for the cherry town. "Dad" Irwin is slated to climb the mound.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Manager Clarke, of the Pirates, has selected a committee, White and Edwards to be the leading twirlers for his team this season.

One more old boy has passed from under the big top. The Cubs have released "Ginger" Beaumont to the St. Paul club.

Walter Ford, a brother of "Russ" Ford, the New York star, has signed to manage the Anliston team in the south eastern league.

Fr'd Beck, the former Dove, now a member of the Cincinnati team, has his eye on the ball this season and is getting the safe ones regularly.

Wade Killifer refuses to join the Minneapolis team and says he prefers to stay in Paw Paw, Mich. Are the Millers so bad as that?

Pitcher Frank Smith and third baseman Purtell have trained in California four years in succession, three years with Chicago and this year with the Boston club.

wick are placed upon the list for the first time. The list of events is the same as that of last year except that the javelin throw has been substituted in place of the hammer throw. The college pays the railroad fare to and from the meet for a party of four from each school and provides entertainment for four representatives and the declamation contestants. Each school may send as many representatives as it pleases, but only the expenses of the above number will be met by the college. This interscholastic meet has become one of the chief events in athletics in the inland empire and is participated in each year by a large number of schools. Gold, silver and bronze cups will be furnished as prizes, besides large silver cups for the relay race, and the school winning the largest number of points in the meet, which are competed for in successive years and become the property of the school winning them twice in succession.

FORTUNES HAVE ALREADY BEEN MADE AT IMBLER AND THERE ARE MORE TO COME.

Taking into consideration the fact that Imbler's fruit section has never had proper organization until this Spring; that it has never had advertising along a regular campaign line; that the fruit has been sold hither and thither as the individual might see fit, and taking into further consideration that the orchard area has not been overly large until now, it is of some consequence to know that several snug fortunes have already been cleaned up by orchard men.

The Laidlaw purchase netted the owner a good return. In fact it was a deal that received prominence all over the West. Other smaller transactions have shown profit to land owners.

Are You in the Market for a Good Investment?

When we say, "are you in the market for a good investment?" we do not mean—have you $50,000 to invest. Not by any means, for the average investor invests his savings. Under the plans of fairness and equity which have been adopted in the Imbler district it is possible for the man or woman with a few hundred dollars to handle an orchard tract. A tract that will increase in value from the date of purchase and one that will net the owner big returns if it is held. The orchard planting plan relieves the investor from all care of his land except to go out occasionally and look it over if he so desires.

And when you go to the Imbler district to look over your tract that has been carefully planted and cultivated you cannot help then feeling the importance of your investment.

Fruit land is the one investment now on the market for the small investor that is absolutely sure of returns. All you need to do is to select an honorable concern with standing to handle your tract.

Those having good fruitland investment offerings in the Imbler district are:

- G. L. Cleaver,
- La Grande Investment Co.
- Wenaha Lumber Co.
- Sherwood Williams,
- Hill & Hibbard.
