Neptune of more than two square miles of territory in an effort to provide additional room. As in the case of many smaller cities the plan in question simply proposes reclamation. In this case the reclamation will be from the ocean involving an amount of land which will be worth something like a billion dollars. The idea originated with an engineer who has acted in a consulting capacity in the erection of some of the largest buildings in the city, and who has made a speciality of foundation and caisson work. His idea in brief is to lengthen Manhattan Island nearly four miles by the erection of sea walls, behind which the space could be filled in by pumping sand from the channel. Exactly the same thing, as a matter of fact, has been accomplished on Governor's Island, and chimerical as the scheme may sound at first hearing, there appear to be no reasons why it should not be carried out since the value of the mainland will far exceed the cost of its creation. Of course until boring and surveys have been made it is impossible to do more than roughly estimate the cost of such an undertaking, but it is believed that it would not only pay for itself but would leave a handsome profit besides. As a result of his growing population, and the need for improved docking facilities, it is evident that Father Knickerbocker must soon begin to convert aqueous territory into dry land and to steal from the domain of Father Neptune in an endeavor to maintain the position of New York as the world's great port.

Big Grain Crops Expected.

Spokane, Wash., April 21.—(Special)—Prospects for a record grain crop in eastern Washington and Oregon, north and central Idaho and western Montana were never better at this time of the year, according to reports from growers to the Spokane chamber of commerce. It is estimated that the wheat crop alone will be a matter of 59,000,000 bushels. The bureau of statistic of the United States department of agriculture says in a report that the present condition of winter wheat in Washington and Oregon is 97 per cent of normal, compared to a 10-year average of 90 for Washington and 92 for Oregon and an average of 82.3 per cent for the United States. Idaho shows 98 per cent against an average of 96. The condition of the crops at the same time last spring was 94 per cent for Washington and 93 for Oregon, while the 10 year average of the entire country was 86.9 per cent. As there has been plenty of moisture during the winter months, the farmers say there is every reason to believe that the spring wheat yield also will be a large one this season.
