WEST DISCUSSES CORPORATIONS.

Denver News Bureau Publishes Opinions of Governor Oswald West.

Denver, Colo., May 9.—(Special)—Governor Oswald West, of Oregon, in reply to an inquiry sent out by a Denver news bureau, asking his views on the recent position taken by Theodore N. Vail, president of the Western Union Telegraph company, approving the commission regulation of public service corporations, makes the following statement:

"As soon as the heads of all large public corporations bow to the inevitable, as Mr. Vail has done, and join with the friends of public service regulation in their attempt to solve this most important problem, the sooner will the old fight between the people and these corporations be ended and they will be given by the people that decent and fair treatment to which good conduct and fair dealing entitles them.

"Government regulation of public service corporations has come to stay. It was not understood at first, except by a few close students of the question but now both the people and the corporations are beginning to see the advantages of such regulation. The people are finding that it opens up the way whereby the humblest citizen of the land can find prompt and adequate redress against the largest corporations and with little or no cost to himself. The corporations are finding that they are getting fair treatment at the hands of the state and federal commissions and that a better understanding between the people and the railroads is being brought about. These companies are finding that they can turn to the commissions for protection against ill-advised and hostile legislation, with the result that as government regulation is extended the railroad lobbies at the state and federal capitols will gradually disappear.

"Many of these public service corporations have grown as great that they have become an important factor in our system of government and are becoming more so every day. The time will come when they will cease to be footballs for stock speculators, and their stocks will be looked upon largely due to the fact that they are under government control, as a safe and sane investment for the small investor."
