Murdered Man Identified.

Although Sheriff Taylor has as yet secured no tangible clue to the perpetrator of the murder at Umatilla yesterday morning, he received a basis from which to work this morning when the dead man was identified as John Casey, a day laborer and sheepherder and a veteran of the Spanish American war. The identification came through two men who had known him previously, Red Brennan, former lightweight pugilist of the world, and a man by the name of Wilson, says the Pendleton East Oregonian.

Brennan made his acquaintance a short time ago in a local saloon. At that time, he declares, Casey said he was going to take a job herding sheep. Wilson is more positive in his identification. He declares he and Casey went through the Spanish-American war together and were later in the hospital at the same time. He says they were both shot in the same battle, Casey through the chest and himself through the abdomen. A bullet scar on the dead man's chest bears out this statement and Wilson further identified two vaccination scars as those made by the army surgeon. Wilson declares the man's former home was in Brockton, Mass., and Coroner Folsom has wired to the Catholic priest in that town for information regarding him.

J. C. O'Connor, who came into the city two days ago is positive he saw the dead man walking the track near The Dalle several days ago. West Noble, bartender in Bogart's saloon, remembers the man coming into the saloon and using the telephone and at that time thought the man gave his name as Ward.

Sheriff Taylor returned from Umatilla last night bringing with him a man who, he thinks might know something of the crime. The man declares he was beating his way from The Dalles to Umatilla on a freight train with another man and that they saw Casey and another stranger get on near Cello. The brakeman on the train, however, declares there were only two men beating their way on the train which leads the officers to believe that the man in custody might have been Casey's companion. He tells a straight story, however, and he will prove useful as a witness if he has no connection with the crime.

Upon his arrival at Umatilla yesterday morning Coroner Ralph Folsom impaneled a jury which, after an examination, found that the deceased had come to his death by a blow on the head from an unknown man. The jury was composed of T. S. Tilson, A. B. Stephens, T. W. Cline, Earl Shaw, Frank Gerrard and John T. McNurlin.
