

CARELESS PEOPLE CARRY CASH

IT costs $1,000 sometimes for a skeptical person to learn that a bank is a safer depository for money than a hand bag. That is what it cost a lady recently to learn this bitter lesson . . . . .

An enterprising burglar who was aware of her foolish distrust of banks watched his opportunity and the money was gone. The savings of almost a lifetime were lost merely because of the foolish fear that the bank would break. Think of the millions and millions of dollars in banks every day and night and the loss by the breaking of a bank is not one dollar in a hundred millions.

DON'T TRY TO BE YOUR OWN BANKER. YOU MAY REGRET IT.

Society and Clubs

Monday evening ushered in 1911 commencement society. The Junior class of the high school entertained at dinner in honor of the graduating class, and delightful indeed was the party. The guests were entertained with a program in the auditorium and then luncheon was served in the manual training room where artistic hands had dressed the walls in the class colors of both classes. The happy blending of mated colors made a banquet room of more than ordinary beauty. The place cards were in keeping with the event and even in them the two classes were represented in their choice of hints. Toasts happily brought out by Toastmaster Merlin Bailey, entertained the guests. Puns were set going and good-natured jests and jabs were hurled indiscriminately. The speakers were: Ruth Gohrmy, to the seniors; N. J. Mansager, to the school; George Kerr, to the faculty; Roy Currey, to the juniors.

ized particularly well. The seniors have long since adopted crimson and gray and the juniors are loyal to scarlet and black. Pennants of these colors were backed up by miscellaneous pennants. All in all it was the banner school social function of the year. Prof. F. D. Carruth, Prof. Ferdinand Neubauer and A. W. Nelson last evening entertained the Blue Mountain association at luncheon at the home of the last named. Plates were laid for 17 and at the conclusion of the repast Eugene Field's "Printer Primer" was the after-dinner entertainer with Winifred Eckley as the reader. The guests were served a two-course by Paul Massee and Percival Melville. The guests, all members of the B. M. A. were: President "Dad" Irwin, Howard Richardson, "Penny" Kerr, Roy B. Currey, "Bud" Garrity, Willie Penre, Fritz Lottes, Roy Rice, "Pinkie" Curry, Winifred Eckley, Joe Hiltbay Olaf Group, Russel Ralston and Harry Crowley. . . . . The shower which the weather man failed to report was a miscellaneous shower tendered Miss Ethel Redhead at the home of her parents, Tuesday, May 9, as a surprise. A very pleasant evening was spent by all in playing games after which light refreshments were served. The party, consisting of Mesdames Leighton, Worth, Thornton, Harvey and Schrock; Misses Vera and Thelma Leffel, Beth and Christine Wheatley, Rosa Sherman and Tressie McMurray, were conveyed to and from the residence in a woodrack. Miss Redhead will be married shortly to Mr. Smith, a railroad mail clerk and they will make their home at Boise. . . . . Election of officers in the two principal ladies' clubs of the city will take place next week and the week following. Next Tuesday the Neighborhood club holds its annual election of officers and it is not likely that a program will be carried out. All the club members are urged to attend this important meeting. On the following Tuesday the Tuesday Musical will hold its annual election and in addition to the selection of officers for the ensuing year, the next year's work will be outlined and for this reason it is important that all members attend. Light refreshments will be served at that time. . . . . Miss Gladys Oesterling was host last evening at "A Little Kid Party." Her guests were member of the D. L. T., a club of high school girls and all came dressed to kill in little girls' dresses. Evening games in accord with the scheme of the party were followed by light refreshments. Miss Oesterling's guests were: Misses Zoe Bragg, Runa Bacon, Ethel Hanley,

The ladies of the Alter society of the Catholic church are going to give a literary and musical, followed by a card party, in the K. P. hall next Wednesday evening, May 17. Refreshments will be served during the evening. The proceeds of this entertaining will go towards the building of a new church. The committee in charge of entertainment are as follows: Mrs. J. McNeely, Mrs. J. Dorden, Mrs. J. Frawley, Mrs. J. Gulling, Mrs. J. Foley, Mrs. J. F. Corbett.

Invitations will soon be out for a rather formal party to be given by the L. D. S. Sunday school. Dancing will be the order of the evening and the proceeds are to apply towards equipping the Sunday school with singing books. The event is set for two weeks from last night.

Mrs. Jay Van Buren was hostess to the Five Hundred club this week on Thursday and Mrs. W. H. Bohnenkamp won the honors of the afternoon.

Mrs. Robert Newlin entertained the afternoon Kaffee Klatch yesterday.

Chief Walden P. . . . . Believing Dead Lover Had Transferred His Form, Girl Would Rejoice. . . . . New York, May 13.—Alta Marheva, a nurse and aide of Dr. W. C. Latzon, who was mysteriously shot to death in his Riverside apartments here, attempted to suicide today with gas. She was found unconscious in a bathroom of the house in which she lived and will probably recover. . . . . Latzon taught her and others influenced by his occultism, that there was no such a thing as death. When he died she said he merely changed his life's form and that she would rejoice in him. Her rooms bore many notes and diagrams showing she loved the doctor deeply. Despite her assertion that the doctor killed himself, physicians are certain another hand sent the bullet into his brain.

The quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less the danger from pneumonia and other serious diseases. Mr. B. W. L. Hall, of Waverly, Va., says: "I firmly believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be absolutely the best preparation on the market for colds. I have recommended it to my friends and they all agree with me." For sale by all dealers.

The Mandarin's Robe.

The author of "Resolutions of a Society Clairvoyant" tells of the case of a lady who was haunted by reason of a garment she wore. It was a mandarin's robe from China, stated to be part of the loot from the sack of Peking. The owner, who lived in a flat in a London suburb, first began to be alarmed by "a smell of decomposition in her bedroom" and heard "stealthy footsteps padding along the tiny passage in and out of the sitting room." She changed her house, but the obsession continued. The dreadful smell recurred, her cats died in great agony from some unknown cause, and uncanny footsteps were heard at night. According to the clairvoyant's diagnosis, the robe had belonged to "a man who had worn it when he engaged in the mystic forms of ceremonial magic known to the Chinese. He had met with a violent death, and certain malignant forces were still imprisoned in his robe, which, from the bloodstains on it, he must have been wearing when he was killed." The curse was eventually dispelled by the robe being burned.

Telephone Blunders.

"Have you any spare ribs?" was the question asked a Portland business man recently, when he took down the telephone receiver to answer a call. For a moment the business man thought he was the subject of some joke, but the sweet voice that asked the question reassured him, and he realized that there was some mistake, so he hastily answered: "No, madam, I am not Adam, and I am not willing to give up one of my ribs for any purpose." "Oh, I beg your pardon, sir," was the prompt reply. "I thought I had Blank's meat market." This incident brought forth a story about the chief of police of Oakland, Cal. Some years ago, when asked over the telephone if he had any brains, he grew furious and said some very impolite things to the lady who asked the question before he discovered that she wanted a butcher shop and not the chief of police.—Portland Oregonian
