STATE S. S. CONVENTIONS.

Sunday School Workers in Three State Will Meet Today.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., June 6.—The 46th annual Iowa State Sunday school convention opened its three day session here today with an unusually large attendance of Sunday School workers from all sections of the state. The program arranged for the three days of the convention comprises a number of addresses by distinguished leaders in the Sunday school movement of Iowa and other states, a big parade and a banquet on Wednesday and a choral concert under the direction of Prof. Meredith, of New York, on Thursday.

Tennessee Sunday Schools.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 6.—With Sunday school workers present from all over the state, the annual convention of the Tennessee Sunday School association opened here today for a three days' session. Sunday school experts of national prominence are among the scheduled speakers. Meet to Discuss Sunday School Work
Grand Island, Neb., June 6.—Sunday school teachers and workers from all sections of the state are in attendance at the annual Nebraska State Sunday School convention which opened its three-day session here today. Herbert Moninger of Cincinnati and R. A. Waite of New York, will be among the distinguished speakers at the Wednesday sessions and on Thursday morning. The convention will close with a big parade on Thursday evening.

BAKER B. P. O. E. STALLING

LOCALS ABOUT TO GIVE UP HOPE FOR GAME.

Three Dates Set by A. L. Grande Lodge All Cancelled.

That the Baker Elks do not want to meet their local brothers in a baseball game is becoming the belief of the Elks here. Three dates have been set for the game and each one has been cancelled by the Baker aggregation.

The date originally set for the game was May 30 and was later changed to June 14. Word has been received here by the Elks that as June 14 is Flag day and there is to be a celebration in Baker the Bakerites do not care to come.

Next Sunday was suggested to them but they will be unable to play here then as they have another baseball engagement for that date in their home town.

A SIGN WHICH OUR TOWN COULD IMITATE.

Names of Denver's Streets Can Be Seen by Day or Night.

The old wooden street signs nailed to telephone and telegraph poles are rapidly being discarded for combination iron poles and signs and for ornamental bronze signs in Denver. Some of the signs are in the form of long narrow boxes, lighted inside by means of eight candle power incandescent lamps. The light is reflected to the signs from the interior, the letters being on a background of mica.

The illuminated letters can be seen for quite a distance and are arranged so that they can be removed without injury to the standard in case it should be desired to change the name. The lamp is said to be so arranged that it cannot well be disturbed by mischief makers, but can be removed for cleaning or repair.

Noticeable.

"I am very frank."
"That is only another name for being disagreeable."
"Think so?"
"I know it."
"You have quite a streak of frankness yourself, haven't you?"

Law of Averages.

"I am going to have some mighty good luck pretty soon."
"You are?"
"You bet."
"How do you know?"
"Cause I never had anything but bad luck."

Loaded.

"He is going to take a chance on matrimony."
"But he can't."
"Why not?"
"Because no man has a ghost of a chance in matrimony."

Getting Even.

"Why so happy?"
"My mother-in-law has come for a visit."
"Quit kidding."
"Fact: There is somebody in the house who can boss my wife."

The Effect.

"I hate dyspepsia."
"Why?"
"It makes me so cross."
"Why I never knew you had it."
"I haven't. Mother has it."

Rich Wife.
"How can he love her?"
"Why?"
"She is so homely."
"But he is so fond of money."
Change For the Enterprising.
"Seen the comet?"
"There ain't no comet this year."
"But the town went wet, didn't it?"

Neck-Twisting Glasses

Wearers of the old style far-and-near glasses, made by gluing one piece to the foot of another, MAKE MUCH COMPLAINT of the neck-jerking and neck-twisting to look over and under the line that crosses the lens. Wearers of the newest glass, the

Lighting Economy

Is it economy to strain your eyes using a dim yellow light that smokes and flickers.

Is it economy to run the terrible risk—fire and explosion—that is ever present when coal-oil lamps are used?

These are not economies; they are dangers. Electricity furnishes a cool steady light, that leaves the air pure; that won't flicker, and can't explode. All you need to do is press the button, and it's ready any time.

When your health, comfort, and peace of mind are taken into consideration, ELECTRIC LIGHT IS CHEAPER.

It doesn't cost much to have your house wired. Just phone Main 34, or call at our office.
