LA GRANDE, OREGON

HAS THE RIGHT SPIRIT.

Faint Sign Which Advertises the City Where It Can Be Seen.

The Wenaha Lumber company has the right spirit and has shown its progressiveness by painting an immense sign on the side of the company's warehouse on Greenwood street. In large black letters against a white background there appears the words, "La Grande, the second highest payroll in Oregon." Following this in smaller letters is the company's advertisement. This big sign telling of one of La Grande's many attractions can be seen from every train passing through.

LONG GAME WON BY LA GRANDE

BRILLIANT FIELDING AND HOME RUNS SEEN.

La Grande's Nifty Little Shrimp Shortstop Breaks Up Game.

Baker and La Grande, in the Eastern Oregon league, tore off a second consecutive 12-inning ball game here yesterday afternoon, and again the La Grande team won by a noseout victory in the twelfth inning when McDonald, the diminutive shortstop with wizard feet broke up an exciting game with a clean two-bagger. The game was so replete with home runs and brilliant fielding that it outshone in interest the game of the week before when La Grande and Baker fought it out for 12 innings, and which La Grande won by a score of 3 to 2. It was McDonald who made the marathon event possible, for he lammed out a home run with one on bases when Baker was leading by the score of 3 to 1. This was in the eighth and it looked very much like Baker was going home with the game. La Grande got its first and only score prior to the eighth, when Wallace Childers, the first man up in the first inning, hit the second pitched ball for a beautiful home run drive over the left field fence.

Those who witnessed the long game at Baker a week ago agree that yesterday's contest was even more exciting. The fielding of both teams was superb, though not without errors at critical times. Baker got her scores on errors but La Grande earned every tally.

The largest crowd that has witnessed a game in the Eastern Oregon league anywhere this year was in attendance, and yelled itself hoarse at the exceptionally brilliant game. Local fans need no longer bemoan brush league games, for it would be hard to outline a game of more interest than that of yesterday, even in the big brush. The contest was crowded with brilliant fielding, clever pitching, daring baserunning and plenty of ginger on the part of the opposing players.

The box score is interesting:

LOCAL ELKS IN FINE FORM

TAKE MORNING GAME FROM ELKS OF BAKER.

Billyou's Twirling and Two Homers Features of Game.

La Grande's Elks gave Baker a fine drubbing yesterday morning in a seven inning contest witnessed by antiered visitors from La Grande and Baker in great numbers. Two home runs, recorded by Francis and Irwin and the superb twirling exhibition of Mr. Billyou were the special features of the game. While there was plenty of excitement and heaps of good solid fun, the visiting herd had no chance at any stage. Billyou had them at his mercy, the visitors registering only one bludge in the game. The lineup:

An Old Favorite.

Denman Thompson's perennial drama of New England country life, is a coming attraction here. The play is now in the twenty-fifth year of its existence. "The Old Homestead" is a play that pleases all classes. When ministers of the gospel urge their congregations to attend a theatrical performance and preach its moral from the pulpit, it follows necessarily that the play itself is far above the average in point of merit, wholesomeness, purity and truth. Yet, we are told, that is precisely what the ministers of the gospel have been doing and we are doing in the case of "The Old Homestead." Not a night passes, we are assured, when the company is on tour, that clergymen of all denominations, Protestants and Catholics, are not present, interested and enthusiastic spectators and auditors of this grand old New England idyl. Like the play itself the audiences are a study, an object lesson in the life of the community. All classes are represented in "The Old Homestead" audiences—the banker, the lawyer, the merchant, the plain mechanic and the plain farmer. To the young it is a delightful and romantic idyl, the youngest child in the audience enjoying its humor if not its pathos, quite as much as the older generation. At Steward theater June 17th.

Women and Stocks.

Women speculators have a habit of giving to brokers orders with a string attached to them. A woman who owned some bank stock asked a broker to sell it at 250 if he thought she could not get any more for it. The market in this stock had been inactive for months, and 250 was the highest price ever recorded for it. The next day the broker had a chance to sell the stock at 250. It so happened that on the same day a lively demand for this bank stock developed, and before the day was over it was selling at 300. The broker wrote to his woman customer that he had sold her stock for $250 a share and would she send her certificate to him for delivery to the purchaser? She refused to deliver the stock.

"You ought to have known better than to sell it for 250," she remonstrated. "I am going to sell it today myself for 300."

It was not until the broker appealed to the courts that he succeeded in getting the stock from the woman.—Strand Magazine.

Pretty Fine Scratches.

Most people consider a polished surface as something absolutely smooth—that is, something with no scratches on it whatever. To polish a thing, however, the very reverse is done to it. It is filled with very fine scratches. All eyeglass lenses, glass for mirrors, furniture, etc., are rubbed with fine emery paper and later with an extremely fine powder which gives the finishing touches in the shape of very fine scratches. Now the question arises as to just how fine the scratches must be—that is, how far apart they must be, for big scratches a good distance apart give anything but a polished surface. The answer is that the scratches or ridges between must be less than one-quarter the wave length of the light that falls on the surface for the light to be reflected and thus give the effect of a polished surface. This is less than one two-hundred-thousandth of an inch for light waves. No breaking up of the waves is caused, and they consequently are reflected in their original form.—New York Tribune.

The Offense Defined.

General Craft, an attorney of Terre Haute, Ind., was once called into a jewelry store in the town to settle a dispute.

"See here, general," explained the proprietor, "if I take a watch from Mr. Smith here and make repairs that cost me 10 cents and then keep it hanging up for a week and charge him $6 when he comes to get it, what percentage do I make? We have been figuring for half an hour and only get up to 900 per cent, and that is but a dollar, so we decided to leave it to you."

"Well," said the general gravely, "you must know that it is a fact, and it has been demonstrated by calculating machines, that at certain points in progressive numbers the law governing them changes. In your case the law would change long before it reached the $6 and would run out of percentage and into what is known and designated as larceny."

Open Door and a Light.

The wives of north country colliers observe a very touching and pathetic custom when an accident occurs in the pit. Directly it is known to the wife of a collier that an accident has happened in the pit where her husband works and that his fate is uncertain she throws open the house door, and, however inclement the weather may be, she keeps the door open and a candle burning in the window night and day till the man is brought home, dead or alive. In some cases the door has remained open and the candle alight during several weeks.—London Graphic.

A Curious Superstition.

The ancients believed that the marrow of the human backbone often transformed itself into a serpent. Pliny ("Natural History," volume 10, page 66) says that the marrow of a man's backbone will breed to a snake. The Chinese ("World's Eastern Travels") burned the backbone to "destroy serpents that might hatch therefrom."

Amending Dickens.

Have a heart that never hardens, a temper that never tires and a touch that never hurts.—Charles Dickens.

Dear, dear! How long Dickens has been dead! Writing for our day he would have said: Have a liver that never hardens, a fire that never punctures and a touch that never fails to land something.—Life.
