Who Knows the Business.

NEXT DOOR TO OBSERVER

He Was a Stayer.
She (desperately)—Don't you believe they will worry over your absence if you fail to return home until such a late hour? He (carelessly)—There's nobody to worry except the landlady, and I make a point to keep her worrying by always owing her a month's board.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Complex Accomplishment.
"I understand you speak French like a native."
"No," replied the student. "I've got the grammar and the accent down pretty fine, but it's hard to learn the gestures."—Exchange.

The Cutthroat Game.
"What is the greatest get-rich-quick scheme you know of?" asked the dimly financier of his partner.
"Taking money away from other people who want to get rich quick."—Wilmington Star.

To please, one must make up his mind to be taught many things which he already knows by people who do not know them.—Chamfort.

More Like a Lover.
Miss Sweet—My brother is wedded to his art. Mrs. Slinick—Wedded? Nonsense! He's perfectly devoted to it.—Exchange.

One life, a little gleam of time between two eternities.—Carlyle.

CREDIT MEN IN BROWN AT HEAD OF RESERVE

MINNEAPOLIS IS MECCA OF PROMINENT ONES.

Men Come From All Sections of the Country for Gathering.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 13.—The 16th annual convention of the National Association of Credit Men began in this city today and will continue four days. On the last day the sessions will be transferred to St. Paul. The attendance embraces more than 1,000 delegates, representing the leading wholesale houses and manufacturing firms in all parts of the country.

The convention was called to order at 11 o'clock this morning by the president, F. H. McAdow of Chicago. Governor Eberhardt and Mayor Haynes delivered addresses of welcome. Responses in behalf of the visitors were made by H. G. Moore of Kansas City and H. E. Choate of Atlanta.

President McAdow delivered his annual address, in which he reviewed the history of credit men's associations and the salutary results achieved by them in placing business upon a sounder basis and in securing needed legislation. The address of the president was followed by the report of the secretary-treasurer, Charles E. Meek of New York. The afternoon session was devoted to the reports of the standing committees and to addresses by James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railway, and H. K. Huntton of Stillwater, Minn. The session concluded with an address on "Reciprocity," by H. H. Pigott of Winnipeg.

Right Back at Him.
"Does your husband allow you to have things charged at the stores?"
"Oh, I think he would, but—"
"But the stores wouldn't. Is that what you were going to add?"
"Oh, no. I was going to say that he gives me plenty of money with which to pay cash. Does yours?"—Buffalo Express.

An Unbiased Champion.
"Queer world, isn't it? See that chap over there, the one who is putting up the big holler for individual drinking cups for public use?"
"Yes."
"He hasn't drunk a drop of water for seven years."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Very Same.
Howell—I can say the Ten Commandments backwards. Jowell—Yes, that's the way you obey them.—New York Press.

JULY 1ST SET FOR CHANGE OF RESERVES.

Present Assistant Supervisor Made Chief of "Minam."

Wallowa, Ore., June 13.—(Special.)—Dividing the Wallowa national forest by cutting off 500,000 acres and naming it the Minam national forest, appointing Sherman A. Brown, at the present assistant supervisor of the Wallowa national forest, as acting supervisor of the new division and setting July 1 as the date for the change, the department of agriculture completes a change contemplated for four years. The headquarters of the new forest will be maintained here for the present and will probably occupy the same quarters with the supervisor of the Wallowa national forest.

The dividing line will follow the entire length of the Minam river, cross a narrow divide and follow down the Innaha river to the Cloverdale station and then due east to the Snake river. All east and south of this line will constitute the Minam forest. It lies in the three counties of Baker, Wallowa and Union. The Wallowa national forest, which will henceforth consist of all that portion of the present forest lying to the north and west of the dividing line will contain approximately 1,000,000 acres and lies wholly in Wallowa county.

CHURCH AFFAIRS HEALTHY

LAST CHURCH BUSINESS MEETING HELD.

Methodist Trustees and Stewards Selected Last Evening.

Healthy conditions in all departments of the Methodist Episcopal church were disclosed at the last meeting of the church here conducted by District Superintendent Halley last evening. While there yet remains two months of the church year, the church affairs were practically all closed up, though a few reports have yet to be handed in before the annual conference.

Election of trustees and stewards took place last evening, resulting in the following:

Trustees—F. H. Green, George L. Cleaver, Geo. H. Currey, Robert Clark, E. W. Kammerer, R. W. Leighton, B. G. Fritts and C. B. Robson.

Stewards—W. H. Stanchfield, recorder, H. C. Vinack, district steward, Mrs. Olive Bolton, Mrs. Hanna Rogers, F. H. Green, Mrs. Para Thornton, L. Carter and Mrs. A. W. Leffel.

Theory and Practice.
The law is for the rich and poor,
And like a rock it stands,
Full measured justice to insure
From its impartial hands.
Or that's about the way they state
The theory, anyway.
But justice seems to gravitate
To persons who can pay.

A man may have upon its face
A cause without a flaw,
But when he comes to have his case
Submitted to the law
If he has little cash to burn
With very kind regards
He'll find the law can take a turn
That wasn't on the cards.

In theory he may stand to win,
Though not by money backed;
The lawyers put their motions in,
And—how is it, in fact?
It's more than likely he has lost
Before his very eyes.
The lawyers stick him for the cost,
Perhaps a fine likewise.

The theory may be double ply,
Yet means, grim and stout,
But every one with half an eye
Can see the working out.
Too bad that justice is so blind!
It should remove the band
That covers up its eyes and find
Exactly how things stand.

Giving Him a Tip.
Him—I don't know how to tell you how I love you. Her—Don't worry about that, I'll take it as it comes. What you want to get nervous about is how to tell papa about it.—Toledo Blade.

God bless the good natured, for they bless everybody else.—Henry Ward Beecher.

ELECTRIC LIGHT

--an
Inexpensive
Luxury

Think what it means to have a bright white light, wherever and whenever you want it
—a light that is sootless, smokeless and odorless
—a light that can't be overturned or explode
—a light that won't overheat or contaminate the air.
A safe bright cool and steady light; its many advantages make it a luxury, but its inexpensiveness places it within the reach of all.
The cost of wiring is very low. Phone Main 34 and we'll tell you what it will cost you.
