JOVITA PEOPLE IN TROUBLE

LOCAL PEOPLE MUCH INTERESTED IN DEVELOPMENTS.

Grande People Bought Hand Under Conditions Called Fraudulent.

A matter of considerable interest to the many La Grande people who were inveigled into investing good money in Jovita Heights property has occurred as a result of the alleged fraudulence in relation to the purchase of the Tacoma suburb. A special Washington Seattle says of this matter:

W. A. Ridgeway of Spokane, president of the Jovita Heights company, and Harry Lyons, advertising manager of the same company, were arrested today on federal warrants charging them with using the mails to defraud. They were released on $5,000 bond each to appear tomorrow before United States Commissioner W. D. Totten for a preliminary hearing.

The complaint was sworn out by Benjamin M. Bell of Pullman, Wash. It charges the defendants with having sent fraudulent matter to them through the mails in connection with lots in Jovita Heights, a townsite in the southwestern part of King county, not far from Tacoma.

The complaint alleged that the townsite company advertised valuable "sold-off" land for sale and did sell 25 foot lots at prices ranging from $140 to $5,000. This land, the complaint charges, is really worth only $50 an acre.

It is asserted the Jovita Heights company has sold lots to people from all parts of the United States. The defendants say they have spent more than $20,000 developing the property.

WRONG NAME GIVEN
 La Grande Irrigation Company Name Company Wanting Changes

In the discussion at the council meeting Wednesday evening relative to the name of the ditch company desiring a change of course for its water from West La Grande through the city limit is the La Grande Investment company and the Sugar Factory ditch were incorrectly applied. The name of this company is the La Grande Irrigation company. The ditch is known by several names but the La Grande Investment company ditch is manifestly wrong. The Observer used the title incorrectly last evening in mentioning the discussions in council chambers.
