GOLD MEDAL FOR GARDENEE.

Other Prizes Awarded in Garden Contest of O. A. C.

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Oregon, June 27.—(Special)—A handsome gold medal is to be awarded the boy who makes first place in the vegetable growing contest conducted by the Portland Y. M. C. A. under the direction of the Oregon agricultural college. The judging of the gardens and their products began last night, when Mr. A. C. B. Bouquet of the college horticulture department went to the Rose City for the purpose. He will announce the result tonight, awarding besides the gold medal, a large list of other prizes, including books, sweaters, football outfits, fishing tackle, watches, baseball paraphernalia and other articles. A cash prize of $5 is to be given by Mr. Bouquet to the boy having the best exhibit of vegetables to show.

The contest opened in April, and includes the growing of peas, head lettuce, spinach and radishes, with some 300 boys entered. In September there will be a second exhibit of the products of those who are growing tomatoes, celery, squashes and cucumbers. Mr. Bouquet has made a number of trips to Portland to instruct the young gardeners in the science of their new occupation, through lectures and the distribution of the three bulletins on the subject of which he is the author.

This is the second contest the college has conducted for young people. To interest and instruct them in the profitable occupations of field and farm. The poultry raising contest conducted last year at Portland proved immensely popular, and that being conducted by the Eugene Y. M. C. A. under the auspices of the college also has an enthusiastic corps of entries.

PUGET SOUND AND CANADIAN CITIES "DONE" PROPERLY.

Miss Robertson Writes of Enjoyable Trip at Expense of Paper.

Portland, June 28.—Editor Evening Observer: Through your columns I want to thank the many of your patrons and the many of my friends for a splendid summer trip, with several weeks of varied and probably expensive entertainment.

I have just concluded my extension trip and am visiting C. R. Lisle, my uncle, and family, in Portland. Next Monday morning I shall begin my journey toward home, stopping off for a few days to visit several relatives at Echo. Then not for "home, sweet home." Already I realize that I shall be as happy to get home as I was delighted to learn that I had won the trip away from home which I have been taking.

My friends may remember that I was one of three contestants who won, besides trips to the Portland Rose Festival, extension trips to San Francisco. After a week's excitement and continuous entertainment in and about Portland, and at Gearhart, "by the sea," the other two contestants decided that they had seen enough for one summer and they elected to take scholarships in lieu of extension trips to the Golden Gate. That left me to go alone. The Observer's contest manager helped me out of this dilemma by offering to send Miss Rotan, his assistant, with me in case I should choose the other elective trip—the one over Puget Sound. This I decided to do.

Our Miss Rotan has acquaintances in the cities of the Puget Sound country, and she is familiar with the cities, having assisted Mr. Brock to conduct newspaper contests in all. She took me to points of interest and caused me to meet some very nice people. As tourists say, "we did" Tacoma, Seattle, Victoria and Vancouver, as well as intermediate towns, spending six days in the tour of Puget Sound. Our steamer trips, in the palatial steamers of Puget Sound waters, were a novelty to me and ought to be a treat to anyone. The water was rough in only one place, crossing the straits of Foca, and I don't want anybody to ask me, when I get home, what happened there.

As a business place, the city of Vancouver impressed me most as a playground for the tourist. Victoria is most charming. As an up to date American city, Seattle has them all going. But as a place for both residence and business Portland, our own metropolis, outstrips any of the others.

In the 17 days I have been traveling I have seen much of the best hotel life of these northwestern cities. But the best entertainment and the finest accommodations that I have had in the entire time was at the Hotel Gearhart, where our party got acquainted with the Pacific ocean.

So far the weather for travelling and sightseeing has been perfectly ideal.

At different times and in different places I have met people who now live or who formerly lived in the Grande Ronde valley. Former residents of the Grande Ronde ask me numerous questions about their old friends, and of course, I give a good report on everybody. In travelling over the valley to gather contest votes I got an acquaintance which particularly gratifies me to carry the personal which these good people want to hear.

As I travel about and enjoy this summer's outing I often think of the different friends and strangers who contributed votes towards my securing this trip; and I think of them with gratitude. I hope some day that every one of you may have a Pacific coast trip as good as mine. I am very glad that the Observer announced a contest and that I am one of the winning contestants.

Of all the valleys I have seen on this trip, I have seen none as pretty as the Grande Ronde valley. And I will soon be there among my friends.

The Observer has made good in all its promises and has done even more for its winners than it announced that it would do.

Very truly,
ZELLA ROBERTSON.

It Depends on the Dog.

Two Broadway business men met before a bar. They were good friends. "I'm worried a little," said one. "My chauffeur ran over a dog today and killed it."

"Oh, I wouldn't worry about a little thing like that," said the other. "The dog probably got in the way. These dogs are a pest."

"But it was your dog."

"What?" came from the second.

"My dog? I'm sorry, but that will cost you $100. That chauffeur of yours is too careless. I insist on the hundred, understand."—New York Telegraph
