One of the greatest objections to bridge work has been the fact that porcelain facings would break and leave a decidedly uncomfortable piece of work in the mouth, did you ever have it occur to you? That difficulty has been overcome entirely by the use of an interchangeable porcelain facing which may be replaced in a few minutes in case of breakage. We have put in a very large selection of these facings and are ready to bridge work for you without waiting to send for the material. We would be pleased to have you ask us about this class of work.
