

JOHN DUNN SUCCUMBS

REMAINS OF JOHN DUNN SHIPPED TO WALLA WALLA TODAY

He Was An Old Miner and Lived at Head of the Minam.

W. B. Daugherty, of Joseph, and Mr. Hinkley, of Walla Walla, left this morning for the latter city with the remains of John Dunn, who died in this city last evening. Henry & Carr, undertakers, had charge of the body and prepared it for shipment.

It is interesting to know that the deceased had lived at the head of the Minam for 25 years and had engaged in mining and prospecting. In his personal belongings were two sacks of high grade specimen ore, and Mr. Daugherty, who had been his lifelong friend and at one time was a prospector with Dunn, took the samples to relatives in Walla Walla.

So rich were some of the specimens that there is reason to believe John Dunn uncovered some valuable ledges in the Minam country before he was called to lay down his pick.

Society and Clubs

It has been first one thing and then another during the past month in society affairs. This week it is too much outright fun and amusement in the water and out, in the domestic science headquarters, in the lecture tent, all together too much of this which can't wait, to allow any material attention to society. Twenty-three families are this afternoon camped at Riverside park, and those who are not camped there wish they were so that is where society folks have centered their attention. It has been a fine time for the women folk, swimming and trying to swim, swinging imaginary Indian clubs and dumb bells and doing "stunts" that are bound to result in grace and litherness if practiced diligently. As for society, well, it can wait until the chautauqua is over.

Twenty years ago last evening Mr. and Mrs. Jerry E. Foley were united in marriage and last evening they were the guests of their three children, P. A., Miss Etta and Jerome Foley, the Foley grill being the gathering place of the family and relatives at an elaborate nine-course dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Foley were also the recipients of a great many hearty congratulations and a goodly quantity of silver presents, in keeping with the silver wedding anniversary. The children of the quarter-century married couple had planned the function carefully and it was highly pleasant to the guests of honor and the relatives who gathered at the festal board. The guests besides Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Foley, were: Mr. and Mrs. Julius Roesch, and children, Annie, Louise and Marcus, Herman Roesch, Etta Foley, Jerome Foley, P. A. Foley, Mrs. Gangloff and Miss Crowe.

Charles I. Wisdom and Ella Twidwell were united in marriage on July 5th at the home of C. D. Tingley, on North Fir street, Arthur C. Williams, Justice of the peace, officiating. Both are residents of Union county and have many friends here who wish them much happiness.

John H. Nice and Miss Marie Johnson were united in marriage at La Grande, Oregon, July 5th. Justice of the Peace Arthur C. Williams officiating. Both are residents of North Powder and have many friends in this county, who wish them much happiness.

The progress of King George and Queen Mary in their tour of the United Kingdom promises to furnish the most of the week's news from the other side. Concluding the four days' visit in Ireland their majesties will leave Dublin Wednesday for Wales. At Carnarvon castle the next day will take place the investiture of the Prince of Wales by the king. On Friday his majesty will open the new university college at Bangor and on Saturday he will lay the foundation stone of the Welsh National library at Aberystwith.

The notable conventions of the week will include the national reunion of Elks at Atlantic City, the annual convention of the National Educational association at San Francisco, the meeting of the Imperial Council of the Mystic Shrine at Rochester, the annual meeting of the National Editorial association at Detroit, the national convention of Building Owners and Managers at Cleveland, and the annual convention of the Young People's Christian Union of the Universalist church in the United States and Canada at Portland, Me.

Other events that will figure more or less prominently in the news of the week will include the opening of the Canadian Industrial Exhibition at Winnipeg, the international athletic games in England between the teams of Harvard and Yale and Cambridge and Oxford, the opening of the grand circuit races at Indianapolis, and the national balloon race, which is scheduled to start on Monday from Kansas City.

Quake in Hungary.

Vienna, July 8.—Dispatches today say that a heavy earthquake shook Buda Pesth, Hungary, and panic resulted. There is no serious loss of life reported. It is believed that enormous damage was wrought in the city and the surrounding country.

ANTLERED ELKS GATHERED IN ATLANTA CITY FOR CONCLAVE

Atlantic City, N. J., July 8.—The great rush of delegates and visitors to the annual national convention and reunion of Elks began in earnest today. Every hotel and rooming house in Atlantic City is booked to its fullest capacity and all signs point to a record breaking crowd during the coming week. The city has put on her best bib and tucker to welcome the "best people on earth" and the preparations for the entertainment of the visitors are of the most complete and elaborate character. The streets are flaring with purple and white decorations and the famous boardwalk is literally blazing with flags and streamers and gay lanterns.

The official program for the week has been completed in all its details. At the formal opening Monday the visiting Elks will be welcomed by Governor Woodrow Wilson, Mayor Franklin P. Stoy and Harry Bacharach, exalted ruler of the local lodge. Grand Exalted Ruler August Herrmann of Cincinnati will respond for the visitors.

The grand lodge will continue in session three days, with the election of officers on Wednesday. The election is already a subject of much lively discussion among the delegates. A strong boom has been developed for Colonel John P. Sullivan of New Orleans for grand exalted ruler. Arthur C. Moreland of New York and Charles R. Rasbury of Dallas are also well up in the running. Portland, Ore., will probably secure next year's convention.

The great parade which is the principal feature of the annual gathering, is scheduled for Thursday afternoon. Prizes aggregating several thousand dollars will be distributed among the lodges making the best showing.

Dr. El L. Biggers, representative of the local B. P. O. E., is in attendance at the annual conclave of the grand lodge of that order at Atlantic City, N. J.

NEWS FORECAST FOR THE COMING WEEK.

Washington, D. C., July 8.—The Georgia legislature will take its first vote Tuesday for the election of a United States senator to succeed the late Senator Clay. The result of the contest is awaited with considerable interest chiefly because of the prominence of the several aspirants for the toga. Among those who are regarded as candidates for the senatorship are Governor Hoke Smith, Senator Terrell, "Tom" Watson and Col. Pleasant A. Stovall of Savannah.

Republicans of Kentucky will nominate a state ticket at a convention to be held in Louisville Tuesday. Judge E. C. O'Rear of the court of appeals is their probable choice for governor. No instructions are proposed for United States senator, and probably none
