THE CATSKILL GNOMES.

Legend of the Ugly Elves and Hendrick Hudson and His Men.

In the Catskill mountains, back of Grand Hotel station, is a large amphitheater where, Indian legend tells us, live the ugly little Catskill dwarfs with bushy beards and eyes like pigs who can do many marvelous things.

They work surpassingly well in metals, and it is from their forges that in autumn comes the haze of Indian summer.

But their most marvelous feat is the brewing of a liquor which shortens the bodies and swells the heads of all who drink it.

It was to their tender mercies that Hendrick Hudson and his men fell, having landed from the Half Moon and lost their way among the mountains. The gnomes held a mad carouse in their honor, capering and dancing around the amphitheater and bringing forth great flagons of their magic wine.

Hudson and his men drank freely and deeply, only to become misshapen, ugly dwarfs from that time forth. Since then they have wandered around the Catskill mountains, appearing to men once in twenty years.

The last time they were due to be seen was in 1909. So now they will not appear again until 1929, when any one daring enough can go up to the mountains to test for himself the truth of the legend.—Alice Phebe Eldridge in New York World.

NATHAN P. BRYAN, FLORIDA'S NEW SENATOR.

THE Bryan family is popular in Florida, which state has recently sent a second Bryan to the United States senate, the first having been William James Bryan, who died only a few weeks after his appointment by the governor. The new Senator Bryan is Nathan P., an elder brother of William J., who was the youngest senator, while he served. Nathan P. Bryan is only a few years older than was his brother. He is regarded as a progressive. He succeeds the late Napoleon Bonaparte Broward, former governor, who died shortly after his election to the senate. Senator Bryan won his election by the primary plan. Two primaries were held, W. A. Blount led in the first, with Bryan second and J. N. C. Stockton third. Under the Florida-law Stockton dropped out, and the race was between Bryan and Blount. Bryan received a substantial majority in the second primary.

HEAD OF L. D. S. CHURCH ON TOUR OF PACIFIC NORTHWEST

President Joseph F. Smith, supreme head of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints at Salt Lake City, John Henry Smith, second counsellor to the president, C. W. Nibley, custodian of church funds, Da. Seymour B. Young, president of Seventies, accompanied about 20 other influential men and women of the Salt Lake congregation, and were in La Grande Saturday afternoon and Sunday, attending a stake conference of the L. D. S. church which drew a large number of churchmen to La Grande yesterday. President Smith addressed the conference at various times, delivering a splendid address yesterday afternoon to an audience much larger than the ordinary conference crowd.

This morning the entire party left for Wallowa county where they will, many of them, see Wallowa county for the first time. The tourists are traveling in Mr. Smith's private car extended him as complimentary to his post as director on the Harriman system's board. On their return from Wallowa tomorrow they will go on to Portland, and then on toward the northwest cities, touring all the territory of special interest.

Mrs. Joseph Smith, Mrs. Henry Smith, Mrs. Nibley and a dozen other ladies are with the party of which there are 24 in all.

The day was especially interesting to local members of the church who have opportunities of hearing the president speak but rarely and the large crowd spoke of the interest attached to his coming.

COINS UNDER WEIGHT.

In England It's the Duty of Those Who Get Them to Break Them.

It is the duty of each loyal British subject not merely to refuse gold coin that is under a certain weight, but to break it.

"Every person," the act reads, "shall, by himself or others, cut, break or deface such coin tendered to him in payment, and the person tendering the same shall bear the loss."

But in spite of this act it is a risky business interfering with coins which you may suspect to be under weight or spurious. Some months ago a Grimsby woman offered a half sovereign in payment of goods to a local shopkeeper. The latter put the coin in a testing machine and, as it broke in two refused to take it.

The coin, however, was pronounced by experts to be perfectly genuine, and when the case was taken into a court of law the shopkeeper was ordered to refund 10 shillings to the customer.

Money, both gold and silver, wears out at a startling rate. It is reckoned that there is usually £100,000,000 in gold coin in England, a very large proportion of which is locked in the strong rooms of banks. Yet of that which is in active circulation the wastage is so great that during every twelve months £70,000 worth of gold and silver is rubbed off into fine dust.—Pearson's Weekly.

Strict School Rules.

John Wesley held that school children should do without holidays altogether. When he opened Kingswood school in 1748 he announced that "the children of tender parents, so called, have no business here, for the rules will not be broken in favor of any person whatsoever. Nor is any child received unless his parents agree that he shall observe all the rules of the house and that they will not take him from school, no, not for a day, till they take him for good and all." Further, no play days were permitted, and no time was ever allowed for play on the ground that he who plays when he is a child will play when he becomes a man. Every Friday the children had to work till 3 in the afternoon without breaking their fast.—London Chronicle.

Foolish Company.

"Well, I want to get my life insured," said a very old man who had entered the office of a general agent.

"I am afraid our company will not wish to take you as a risk," the agent replied. "How old are you?"

"Eighty-five."

"We never write policies for people who are over eighty years old."

"What's the matter with your fool company? Don't you know that a great many more people die under eighty than over that age?"—Judge
