PORTLAND TO TAKE EARLY VOTE

Submission of a commission form of charter to the voters of Portland will be made at a special election on January 9, 1912. This was decided finally at a meeting of the charter revision committee last night. With one exception, the nine members of the committee attending the conference were opposed to any delay in submitting to the people the proposed change in the administration of municipal government. The date fixed by the committee last night is the same time established by the committee at a former meeting. A disposition had developed among some of the committeemen to refer the submission of the proposed revised charter for another year. It was on motion of Gay Lombard, seconded by Dr. Andrew C. Smith and City Attorney Grant that the committee last night decided that the charter should be voted on the people next January.

The only dissenting vote was offered by George B. Cellars. He explained that he favored submitting to the voters at the very earliest possible date the commission form of charter, but he contended that the committee should proceed first to draft the amended charter and subsequently fix the time when it should be submitted. The Lombard motion also provided that the city council should enact an ordinance appropriating sufficient funds to defray the expenses of the special election necessary for the consideration of the commission charter.

This action of the committee means that the draft of the revised charter must be completed and filed with the city auditor not later than November 9, or 30 days prior to the date of the special election.

The disposition of the committee is to take up the present charter section by section in committee of the whole and amend it to meet the requirements of a commission government. This will probably be the recommendation of the committee as the most direct method
