The Isthmian THEATRE

"The Love of Summer Morn"..... Kalem.
A beautiful Indian love story. Tragic in its finale, with "Summer Morn," a chief's daughter, sacrifices her life and love in the tribal sacred spring. A magnificent picture.
"Winter Sports at Lucerna"..... Pathe.
Last winter's carnival fully depicted.
"Barriers Burned Away"..... Vitagraph.
Two brothers, two wives and two children. An unhappy quarrel and eventually the barriers are burned away. A striking Vitagraph production.
"The Accomplice"..... Pathe.
A magnificent drama holding the audience tense and spell bound until the finish. A Pathe special.
"Two Overcoats"..... Vitagraph.
This is a good one. Vitagraph comedy has a reputation all its own. This is no exception.
Illustrated song—"When We Listen to the Chime of the Old Church Bell," sung by Miss Garrick.
Musical Director.....Mr. King

Lorimer Has Chances.
Washington, July 29.—Lawrence Stringer, the democratic caucus nominee for senator in Illinois in 1906, testified favorably for Lorimer before the committee today. He said he was apparently sure that the legislative deadlock was such that no republican could be elected without democratic votes and that Lorimer was the only man who had more friends among the democrats than republican.

Nashville Prelate 70 Years Old.
Nashville, Tenn., July 29.—Rev. Thomas Sebastian Byrne Roman Catholic bishop of this city, attained his 70th year today and was the recipient of many congratulations. Bishop Byrne was born in Hamilton, Ohio, and was connected with the Cincinnati diocese from the time of his ordination in 1868 until his appointment as bishop of Nashville in 1894.

COVE WANTS ELKS.

Believed by Forest Ranger Mt. Fanny Would Pasture Herds.
The Cove correspondent in the Union Scout says:
Forest Ranger Bitvens suggests fencing several thousands acres of government land in the Wallowa forest reserve back of Mt. Fanny, and stocking the same with elk, making it a national game preserve. The stocking of the preserve can be shipped from Wyoming and by the year 1919 when the elk season is open there should be a good bunch which could be turned loose. The suggested territory would make an ideal park, as it is dotted here and there with numerous meadows and "pot holes" which watered by good springs, and which would furnish an abundance of feed.
Every true sportsman will welcome movements of this sort, as the game of the west is rapidly becoming more scarce against the ravages of the "game hog" and it is only by some such means as this that even the common deer will be saved from the same fate as met our bison.

Funeral Hour Changed.

The funeral over the remains of the Harris baby who died yesterday as the result of swallowing a cherry pit, has been changed and it will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon from the L. D. S. tabernacle. The casket will now be opened at the church and friends of the family can view the remains at the home before 2 o'clock.

Sign Arbitration Treaties.

Washington, July 29.—General arbitration treaties between the United States, Great Britain and the United States and France will be signed in Washington next week, according to announcement made here today.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W, Notre Dame, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urinate difficulties by day or night.

Woe is His.

First.—My wife is my boss. I shall not deny.
Second.—She maketh me to lie down behind the bed when swell company comes, and she leadeth me behind her up Main street.
Third.—She restoreth my pocketbook after she has spent all of its contents for stylish skirts and theater tickets, and she leadeth me up the main aisle at church for her new hat's sake.
Fourth.—Yes, though I walk more than half the night through dark rooms with a crying baby I will get no rest, for she is behind me; her broomstick and her batpin they do everything else but comfort me.
Fifth.—She prepareth a cold snack for me, then maketh a bee line for an ice society supper. She anointeth my head with the rolling pin occasionally. My arms runneth over with the bundle before she is half done with her shopping.
Sixth.—Surely her dressmaker's appraiser's bills shall follow me all the days of her life, and I will dwell in the house of my wife forever.—Critic (Mo.) Herald.

The Landlubber.

They were enlightening the landlubber as to maritime matters. He was becoming more and more crestfallen as their explanations progressed.
"Why, I always thought," he sadly sighed, "that the port side of a ship was the one nearest port!"—Boston Herald.

BALLET DANCERS.

Long Training and a Ceaseless Grind of Hard Work Are Theirs.
The modern imperial ballet schools of St. Petersburg and Moscow are under government control, forming, with the theaters and dramatic schools, a department of the ministry of the court. Pupils, both male and female, are entered at the early age of ten years— seldom older. After the necessary nomination has been obtained—by no means an easy matter now days—a stringent examination regarding health, strength, beauty of form and natural gracefulness has to be passed before the child is finally accepted. From the time it becomes an inmate the whole of its education—secular and artistic, is taken in hand and some years of training are necessary before it is considered ripe to appear in public.

The dancer's life is a ceaseless round of hard work. All even great artists when at home take regular daily lessons in addition to the daily rehearsals for the next performance which are demanded, however old and well known the ballet. Thus an average of five to six hours' dancing a day is rather the rule than the exception, popular ballerinas in demand at charity performances and artistic at homes often dancing as much as eight hours in the twenty-four.

Trained artists are kept to design in every detail of period and subject, the dresses, scenery and accessories—a task obviously requiring much imagination and much knowledge—and often as many as 150 personages appear on the stage at the same time. Even the orchestra leaders qualify especially for ballet music, having no place in the orchestra at any other time.—London World.

THE FOURTH DIMENSION.

To Catch a Glimpse of It Just Get Delirium Tremens.

The majority of us are like brutes. We believe in the reality of things. Science, more hospitable, acknowledges the fourth dimension and with it the constant parade before our eyes of things and events ordinarily unseen. The phenomena of delirium tremens forms a case in point. The shapes which the layman believes the patient only imagines are really seen and are rendered visible through the excitation of the pineal gland, which now is the rudimentary organ of what once was psychic vision. Alcohol stimulates this gland. The drunkard in his aftercup sees with it the hideousness of shapes which his own hideousness has attracted to him. For they are there, or rather, they are here, about us in the fourth dimension, precisely as there are other shapes as gracious as these are revolting. Only ordinarily we do not see them. There are, though, those who can and do, and without being drunkards either.

Thinkers as sober as Jevons and Babbage go a bit further. They will, if you let them, tell you that whatever occurs in the privacy of a room remains photographed in it. A mere extension of this enables oculists to say that nothing has ever occurred anywhere which is not also photographed; that in the ether above us is the great picture gallery of the world. In India, at Adyar, the chief lieu of theosophy, this gallery is constantly being studied. The results, occasionally bizarre, are sometimes trivial. It has been found that Herbert Spencer was Aristotle; Gladstone, Cicero; Tennyson, Ovid.—Edgar Saltus in Forum.

Opened His Eyes to the Future.
"Dickie, I'm awfully sorry you use tobacco. I don't like it, and mamma simply loathes it. Will you stop when we are married?"
"Isn't that asking a lot, dearie?" asked Dick.
"I wouldn't care for myself," answered the girl, "but you know it makes mamma deathly sick."
"Well, then," he promised cheerfully, "I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll never smoke when your mamma is with us."
She threw her arms around him. "Darling," she murmured, "that's so good of you! I was afraid you'd insist on smoking once in a while after we were married!"—New York Globe.

The Iron Cross.
The Iron Cross, an order of knighthood, was established by Frederick William III. of Prussia in March, 1813. The order was founded in order to honor patriotic bravery in the war against France. It was revived by Emperor William I. during the Franco-Prussian war and awarded by him to his son for his great victory at Wissembourg on Aug. 4, 1870. Later on the order was bestowed most generously, some 40,000 persons being decorated between 1870 and 1872.

Expert Advice.
The prison turnkey found the two cellmates deeply engrossed. One pored over the market reports of a newspaper and figured on the margin with a pencil. His cellmate sat expectant.
"Bill," said the mathematician at last, "you could make $34 a night stealin' hogs in Iowa."—Success Magazine.
