EXTRA SESSION A HEATED ONE

COUNCIL PASSES WASHINGTON ASSESSMENT ORDINANCE

Connerdale Construction of Sidewalks Let to mitch Concern.

Bernard Logsdon was mayor of La Grande last evening for a few minutes, yet during his regime as chief executive he did not occupy the seat on the dais nor did he wield the gavel. The short-lived reign was brought about when Mayor Richardson was called away for a few minutes just as the special session of the council was coming to order and to expedite matters the council proceeded to elect a chairman as President of the Council W. J. Church was absent from the city. Mr. Logsdon was elected but was slow to take his seat fearing important legislation would be enacted without his knowledge because of bad hearing facilities. Mayor Logsdon placed the nomination of C. S. Dunn but on a vote it was turned down and Mr. Logsdon was still mayor. While he was debating the issue the real mayor returned and the council commenced a rather stormy session.

The first tussle came when Councilman Finley presented a minority report as an appendix to the majority report of the street committee on the bids for the construction of cement walks in Connerdale. The Smith Construction company bid was recommended by the committee, but Mr. Finley objected and Council Logsdon was the objector's mouthpiece. However, the minority report was voted down and Mr. Smith has the work. The Connerdale addition and Dr. Geo. O'Conner came in for scathing attacks a few minutes later when Councilman Logsdon aimed a personal broadside at the owner of Connerdale, and Connerdale itself.

The point raised by Mr. Logsdon was that he did not believe the city should be held responsible to the contractor for the work done, yet the project was carried out step by step under the preliminaries to the Bancroft law, and the city is liable exactly as it is in other improvement districts. The matter was finally settled by a premature adjournment as Mr. Logsdon and the doctor were in the midst of a heated debate. The preliminaries have been gone through and the work is now up to the contractor who must look to the property for his pay the same as the contractor in an up town improvement district.

Wanted Sewer Plans Changed

A petition signed by 29 taxpayers on N and O avenues requested the council to have the proposed sewer, now under construction, run down the alleys between N and O and between N and M avenues. The petition was referred to the sewer committee but a casual study of conditions discloses that if the prayer is granted, property owners on O street—the north side of it—must either run their connecting sewers over to Pennsylvania across other people's property or cross the street and run through other people's property again to come to the alley sewer.

City Auditor Manager reported he had found no errors in the city's books for the past month.

The commission appointed to view the proposed construction of a plank sidewalk on Second street from H to C reported the work would cost $467.90. The report was adopted.

Washington Ordinance Passed.

On a reconsideration vote of the assessment ordinance on Washington avenue—killed a week ago when Councilman Logsdon raised a long debate against it claiming the work had been improperly done—the assessment ordinance was passed last night. Councilman Dunn moved a reconsideration vote and the standing of the council was determined when his motion carried, all but Logsdon and Finley voting for the reconsideration. With the council in favor of the reconsideration, the final passage of the ordinance was soon enacted into law.
