VALE OIL INDICATED.

News From Oil Fields Encouraging to Stock Holders.

Vale, Ore., Aug. 15.—Since the beginning of development of work in the Vale oil fields, numerous rumors have been circulated of prospects of oil in a short time and disappointment has always followed those particular prophecies but now the greater part of grief that always goes with a new oil field is about over and we are assured that it is only a number of weeks until the hopes of the oil men will be realized, and success crown the untiring efforts of the men at the well who have stayed with it and surmounted obstacles formidable enough to discourage less persistent men. Messrs. Eames and Osborne, with Mr. Flannery of Everett, Washington, visited the Malheur well yesterday and reported that the hard rock had been reamed through and, barring accidents, they should be in oil sand in a short time. The oil sand has been penetrated to a depth of ten feet and which is reached this time, will be drilled through its entire thickness. It is known to carry a large per cent of oil, and the men at the well are satisfied that their long months of labor will be rewarded with a well of large capacity.

HOPS VALUED BY LOOKS AND AROMA.

Best Are Raised in Bohemia, Bavaria and Parts of England.

According to the prevailing opinions, which, according to some American growers, are mere prejudices, the best hops are raised in Bohemia, Bavaria and some parts of England, notably Kent. Most American brewers as well as their European brothers value hops largely by their appearance and their aroma. This matter is being thrashed out thoroughly in connection with the barley and hop exhibition which will be held in Chicago Oct. 12-22. As in the case of other aromatic plants, the sources of the aroma are not well understood. Aroma usually depends upon such minute particles of substance that even the delicate reactions in the chemical laboratory are frequently inadequate to discover them. The high prices which are paid, for instance, for certain wines are based upon their flavor or aroma, and yet this flavor or aroma cannot be discovered by chemical analysis. It is not surprising, therefore, that the substances which contain the flavor or aroma of hops have never been ascertained with certainty. There is a theory that they are closely associated with the soft resins contained in the lupulin of the hop flour, which is found between the bracts of the cone and which is really the essential part of the hop plant.

As for the color of the hops, various preferences prevail, some preferring the varieties which are entirely green, while others think the yellowish green is preferable. In this country the yellowish kinds are usually preferred, while in Germany the green ones have the call.

Inasmuch as the brewing value of hops depends largely upon the lupulinic acid and the soft resins and the American hops are unusually rich in soft resins, American hop growers need have no fear of entering the prize competition at Chicago under the rules which have been adopted for the jury which is to judge the hops.

The National Progressive Democratic league is to be formally launched within a few weeks, when articles of incorporation will be filed at Trenton, N. J. Colonel William C. Liller of Indianapolis is at the head of the organization which is to be the democratic party what the National Republican Progressive league, organized last year, is to the republican party.
