RACING BIRDS COMING

company, today said the old birds to be shipped here would be useless for racing purposes as they would immediately light out for California, from whence they were brought to Portland soon before he came to La Grande to live. The experiments to be carried on here will be entirely with the youngsters in the flock as the old birds never forget.

Many local people know nothing of homing birds and the experiments will be watched with interest.

HORSE THIEF CAPTURED

Armed With a Young Arsenal, He Is Taken While Asleep.

(Elgin Recorder.)

George Propek, formerly of Elgin, but at present a constable of Milton and deputy sheriff of Umatilla county, brought A. Huntley into Elgin last Tuesday morning and the city marshal lodged him in the jail.

Huntley, who goes by the alias of Oscar Hunter, is wanted in Umatilla county for horsetealing. He got into trouble in regard to the same horses about a year ago and managed to escape the Pendleton sheriff by walking to Canada, where he remained during the winter. He returned to Umatilla County last spring where he went under the name of Oscar Hunter. The horses were in a pasture on Basket Mountain, and Huntley, watching his chance, took them and started for other parts. Propek took up the trail about 12 hours later, and, being better mounted, overtook him at the Parson place, where he was asleep in the barn, and Propek disarmed the fugitive before he awakened. Huntley was armed with two rifles and two six-shooters, and it was well that he was taken while asleep, or he might have tried to pull an imitation of Harry Tracy. While he was in jail some one is supposed to have passed a knife to him and he had almost cut his way out before Marshal Christensen interrupted him. He was then handcuffed and on Saturday morning Propek started with him for Freewater, where his preliminary hearing will be held.

EXPLOSION KILLS ENGINEER

Wallowa County Engine Explodes With Fatal Results This Week.

(Wallowa Sun.)

George Williams, engineer for W. T. Knapp's thresher, was badly scalded in a boiler explosion at the C. A. Hunter ranch on Whiskey Creep, Tuesday noon. The water in the boiler was very low and the crown sheet was forced down fully seven inches, tearing the sheet loose from the stay bolts. Through the holes thus formed the steam and hot water poured into the fire box, blew off both doors and threw Williams fully 25 feet from the engine. His body, arms and face were badly scalded. He lived until two o'clock yesterday morning, and although all that medical skill and trained nursing could do was done, he could not survive the dreadful injury he had received. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon from Halsten's undertaking parlors.

Williams, who has had several years' experience as an engineer, came here early in the summer with Kenworthy's merry-go-round, acting as engineer for the amusement concern. He remained here when the amusement concern moved on and secured a position with Mr. Knapp when the thresher started Monday morning. After running the engine a day and a half he evidently forgot to keep sufficient water in the boiler and the explosion resulted. Examination of the boiler showed that portions of it had become redhot before the explosion occurred.

It would surprise you to know the advance made by the public the past twenty years in the matter of care of the teeth and mouth.

Time was when a tooth would be extracted sooner than filled "because it ached". Now it is a rare thing to extract a tooth "because it aches".

Nearly ALL teeth can be saved for years of usefulness -- due largely to the advanced skill and methods now in use in the modern dental office. Teeth are easily put in now without wearing the cumbersome plate and at a cost that makes it within the reach of practically every one.
