THE TOGGERY

Malds on Ferrys.
San Francisco, Sept. 28.—(Special)—Care of its women travelers is one of the principal aims of the Southern Pacific company and in pursuing the fulfillment of this policy the officials have recently placed uniformed maids upon all of the ferry steamers crossing San Francisco bay. Seasickness is sometimes the fate of the women travelers and the maids have already demonstrated their usefulness in this respect. The duties of these maids are to look out for the comfort of the women passengers. The uniform is for the purpose of identification and all that is required by the passengers is to request her services. At all of the larger stations of the Southern Pacific uniformed maids are employed and they have proved to be a great comfort to the thousands of women travelers who patronize the lines of that company.

PUBLIC LANDS CONVENTION AT DENVER OPENED TODAY

Denver, Colo., Sept. 28.—(Special)—An assemblage of men prominent in the political and industrial affairs of the nation such as never seen in Denver before was present in the auditorium when the big public lands convention opened today. This is what the executive committee assures the people of Denver. Speakers who are national characters are coming from the east, the west and the south, and the question of the future administration of the vast public domain will be discussed from every angle that can be brought to bear on the subject.

One of the biggest days of the convention will be the last, October 3, when President Taft will talk. Day and night sessions will be held and the general public will be admitted to the balcony and gallery.

The convention will be called to order at 10 o'clock on the morning of September 28 by J. Arthur Eddy, chairman of the executive committee. The invocation will be delivered by Rev. Father Thomas H. Malone of Denver. Governor John F. Shafroth of Colorado will welcome the delegates and Governor William Spry of Utah will respond.

The first address was delivered this afternoon by Governor Joseph M. Cary of Wyoming. His subject was: "Radicalism is not conservatism."

The exact dates of only a few of the other addresses have been set, and these were fixed in the acceptances of the speakers themselves. These speakers with their subjects are:

Richard A. Ballinger, Sept. 29, evening. "A Portrayal of American Bureaucratic Government."

J. F. Callbreath, Sept. 29: "Injustice of the Public Land Policy Toward Alaska."

Governor James H. Hawley of Idaho Sept. 30: "What should Be Done With Our Western Forests."

Governor Chester H. Aldrich of Nebraska, Sept. 30: "The Federal Special Agent System—A Menace to the Safety of our Republican Institutions."

Governor Robert S. Vessey of South Dakota, Sept. 30: "The Navigation Easement Encompasses all Federal Rights to Our Streams."

Governor Edwin L. Norris of Montana, October 2: "New Nationalism."

In all there will be 28 set addresses presented upon which discussion will follow. The general subject covers a vast field and includes all of the natural resources of the great west.

The members of the executive committee say that the deliberations of the convention will be of vital interest to the people of the western states, and therefore, preparations are being made to seat as many people in the auditorium during the entire convention as possible.

Roy D. Way Makes Personal Hit.

Last night the Courtenay Morgan company opened the third night of their engagement at the Steward theatre in Franz Molnar's sensational satire, "The Devil," with Mr. Roy D. Way, Miss Morgan's leading man, in the title role. Too much cannot be said in praise of the manner in which

Mr. Way presented the difficult role of "Dr. Miller" (the Devil). He did not make this character the old stereotyped stage "devil" with red cloak, tights and horns, but made him the polished gentleman with a Prince Albert suit, his sensational lines were read with an intensity and yet a certain dryness, that made the audience wonder whether the "devil" is right or wrong after all. This is the first chance this most capable actor has had of displaying his abilities but last night he convinced the large audience present that he was an artist in respect and one worthy of great praise.

Second honors were cast between Miss Morgan as "Mrs. Hoffman" and Mr. Mayo as "Karl Hahler," both of whom proved themselves most capable and finished artists. The scenery and lighting effects showed that notice is given the smallest details in this company.

All in all Miss Morgan's company is the best stock ever seen in this city and deserves all the support that La Grande can give it and judging by the growing audiences every performance this city realizes the fact.

Tonight Miss Morgan and company present another of their famous comedies, being the racy brilliant farce, "An Innocent Widow," with Miss Morgan appearing in the title role and Mr. Way in the eccentric old "Peter Stone." Reserved seat tickets are on sale as usual at J. Van Buren's cigar store.

A Trail of Twisted Trees.

All manner of devices have been employed to mark a line of march, but it is thought that the most curious method of "blazing the trail" is that still to be seen in Africa. In the year 1889, after a fierce battle with the Abyssinians, the dervishes pursued their foes as far as the lake district. The mahdi's men had little knowledge of geography and little topographical intelligence. So the advance party, in order to mark the route for those who came after and also to guide the force on their return journey, twisted the saplings along the way into living knots. The war ended, but the tied up trees grow and flourish, although uncouthly twisted and distorted, and are now the only reminders of that uprising of the dervishes.

John Bunyan's Indictment.

The bill of indictment preferred against John Bunyan ran thus: "John Bunyan hath devilishly and perniciously abstained from coming to church to hear divine service and is a common upholder of several unlawful meetings and conventicles, to the disturbance and distraction of the good subjects of this kingdom, contrary to the laws of our sovereign lord the king." He was convicted and imprisoned twelve years and six months.

Running up and down stairs, sweeping and bending over making beds will not make a woman healthy or beautiful. She must get out of doors, walk a mile or two every day and take Chamberlain's Tablets to improve her digestion and regulate her bowels. For sale by all dealers.
