CHILD DIES, BEE OFF

WOODMEN'S PLANS DISARRANGED BY GRIM DEATH.

Child of Ailing Father Passes Away Last Evening at North Side Home.

Cora Lenora, one year old, daughter of Robert McLane, died last night and will be buried tomorrow at 2:30 from the residence near the stock yards north of the track and west of the mill switch. This is the man for whom the Modern Woodmen were to go today and complete his unfinished house. Because of this affliction a different date has been found necessary. It will be announced later.

Prescription Work

Well Done

We've been overhearing some complimentary remarks about our Prescription Work from the Doctors and Nurses of this town lately. We are highly pleased, but not surprised.

There's always a lot of satisfaction about doing anything well whether it receives any notice or not. But to do well and be told that we have done well is mighty pleasant.

This is worth your knowing when you have a prescription to put up. Remember to come here for particular wants.

FRANKLIN URGES UNITY

LOCAL STRIKERS JOINED BY ONE MACHINIST.

Bollermakers Receive Word from Head of Union Today.

EMPLOYED NUMBER OVER 80.

Officials of the O-W, today reported more than 80 men employed in the local shops, the sum total including the common laborers. To the public there is no indication of a change over yesterday, the company remaining firm in its declaration that there is little of serious handicap to business and traffic. There has been no deviation from the orderly progress of the strike here.

Leaving the shops where he has been employed since Monday, Machinist Lyman is today out with the strikers and is applying for application to the union. He says he didn't understand the situation until the committee waited on him. This was one of the important items coming to the attention of the strikers' daily meeting this morning in the I. O. O. F. hall. To extend their appreciation of Mr. Lyman's action the strikers passed a resolution reading: "Resolved, that we extend a hand of welcome to Brother Lyman for his appearance in our ranks." The daily bulletin issued by the strikers also affirms that engine 501 came into the yards last night with the spring rigging broken and the pilot torn off. Engine 192 was tied up two days ago with a burned journal on the trailer. Another resolution passed this morning by the strikers was one instructing the press committee to thank the business men and citizens of La Grande for the stand taken in this strike.

President Writes Union.

Another matter coming before the meeting this morning was the first letter from President J. A. Franklin of the Bollermakers' union. The letter was read in the meeting and given out for publication, reading:

Unity Is Urged.

Kansas City, Kas., Oct. 1.—To the officers and members of all lodges in district No. 6. Greeting: I am writing you at this time to give you a brief report of the result, and the response of our members to the call to suspend work Saturday morning, 10 o'clock, Sept. 30th.

We have, at this hour, received replies from all points on the Harriman lines, which indicate that the response has been unanimous, with practically 100 per cent responding to the call. This, indeed, is encouraging and I desire to congratulate the officers and members on the manner in which you have responded and to further commend you for your patience in delay action until we were in a position to make this call unanimous with all the crafts affiliated with the federation and it now remains for us to convince the officials of the Harriman lines that we are in earnest and determined to secure the recognition to which the crafts are entitled, and we will not falter in our purpose and determination that the federation must be recognized and a joint agreement signed before we will return to the service of the company.

Much will depend upon your actions in conducting this fight for principle which you are now engaged in, and let it be said when this struggle is over that no man has shirked the responsibility that devolves upon him. Let each and every one do his part to make this the greatest success that organized labor has ever achieved and remember that all the powers that the railroad combinations will be able to bring to bear will be used against you, all manner and kinds of deception and false rumors will be circulated. You will be told that men at different points have returned to work, as you are now being told by the press, that a very small percentage of the men responded to the strike order, which we know to be false. As above stated the reports we have at hand show that 100 per cent walked out at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Let us resolve at this time that regardless of the length of time it takes to win this fight we will go back into the shops as we came out, a unit. We will endeavor to keep you posted as to any development and anything that may be of interest to you and bearing on this controversy, your executive board has arranged to give you reports from all points regularly. Let there be no friction whatever between the officers or members or between the different crafts for we must remember that our success depends upon all crafts acting as a unit and working harmoniously together. I assure you that everything in our power that can be done in your behalf will be promptly attended to, and finally remember this, that the final outcome of this struggle will be just what we make it. I can only request that you be loyal to yourselves and to your fellowmen and this struggle can only have one ending—a complete success for the federated crafts.

With my very best wishes and kindest regards to all, I am, Yours fraternally, J. A. Franklin, International president of Bollermakers.

A Portland letter read this morning and dated at Portland three days ago was issued publicly locally this noon. It, too, follows:

Portland, Ore., Oct. 2.—(5 p. m.)—To all Shop crafts on Harriman lines in Oregon and Washington: Your advisory board now in session in the labor temple in Portland deems advisable to send out this circular letter acquainting you of the conditions now at this point. All men have practically responded to the call at the Albina and S. P. shops and are now standing firm. We have received information from Huntington and Umatilla that the same thing is in existence and we implore of you to throw all your energy into this movement and furnish us with a letter each day, so that we will be kept thoroughly posted as to every move made on this system.

We are aware of the fact that misleading statements will be made and false representations will be issued in order to mislead you and cause you to break faith. We further ask you not to rely upon anything you see in the daily papers. We will furnish you with an accurate account of matters occurring each day. Here at the O. W. R. & N. two machinist foremen were fired for not doing work. J. F. Graham wanted the hostler to move engine for a "scab" and refusing he was discharged, then the scab went on strike also. Machinist foreman at Albany fired for refusing to do work on engine. Five engines dead between here and Roseburg. Helpers here are joining the new local of helpers. Non-union men are coming out also and joining the different locals. We all feel jubilant over the situation.

Trusting you to furnish us with an exact account of conditions, send all communications to labor temple, room 306, Portland, Ore. Brother John Suthens will shortly make a trip over the systems the dates of data you will receive later.

We remain yours, System Federation Board, by H. Weber, president; C. R. Merrill, secretary; Carl Wohlforth, J. W. Tarnasky, Jos. Vana.

SIXTH STREET HEARING SET

COUNCIL TO RESOLVE INTO A COURT SATURDAY.

Testimony Will Be Taken to Determine Conditions on Sixth.

Points to be brought forth as reason why the property owners on Sixth street should not be assessed the sums now set opposite their names for the paving of Sixth street were presented to the council last night by Attorney J. D. Slater, counsel for the remonstrators in a lengthy discussion of the Sixth street situation in which Saturday night was set as a time for presenting actual evidence of fact to the council as a whole. The remonstrators were to have been on hand last night but were represented only by counsel. Hence the postponement until Saturday night. At that time testimony will be taken by witnesses who live on Sixth street and are included in the remonstrators. It is supposed the city will also present witnesses and the council and mayor will resolve itself into a court and issue its findings on that testimony.

Points Held as Objections.

Attorney Slater presented briefly the points which will be corroborated by actual testimony next Saturday night. In the first place, the remonstrators will hold, as they did in the original objection to the pavement and which was taken to the circuit court, that the council has no jurisdiction in the matter. Mr. Slater affirmed that an ordinance dating back many years was still in force, and required that the city should first give notice to the property owners to build the improvements and if the property owner did not, the city could do it. This is in violation of the principles of the Hancock ordinance with which the Sixth street work was done.

The next point held was that the assessments were confiscatory in their amounts in many instances.

Still another remonstrance is that the council has no authority to re-do the assessment work, following the circuit court's opinion that the first assessment was incorrectly done.

The assessments are not done on an equitable basis, said Mr. Slater. The work entails a cost that is beyond the special benefits to be received by points out. It is along these lines that the testimony will be taken next Saturday night. One instance of confiscatory prices which Mr. Slater quoted was the fact that A. E. Adcock had purchased a lot facing on Sixth street for $35 several years ago and that the paving costs amounted to a little more than $300. Mr. Adcock, said the attorney, had been trying to sell the lot now for $50 and paving costs, but was unable. This Mr. Slater held as proof that the costs were confiscatory. However, several councilmen assured the attorney that they would quickly buy a lot on a paved street for $50 and cost of paving.
