A DOLLAR'S DAY.

One morn a silver dollar woke Inside Sam Snyder's clothes And softly to itself it spoke, "Oh, where do you suppose I'll sleep tonight? Perhaps away From here in alien lands— For, if Sam goes to town today, I surely will change hands."

At six Sam started for the town, At eight the coin was spent; In Parson's store Sam laid it down, Then over hills he went To see the barn of Walter Chase, A model of its kind. (For some such barn for his own place Sam Snyder had in mind.)

Not long in Parson's busy till The dollar had a rest, For Sam was hardly up the hill Before the coin was pressed In Humphrey's hand to fix a horse That day had cast a shoe; And so the dollar kept its course To other people, too.

Until it came to Henry Black. Now, meanwhile, Sam that day Had seen the barn and started back Along his homeward way. His good wife met him with a kiss While you were gone a man left this And said to him, "See here— He owed to you, my dear."

"He said of corn a while ago You let him have a sack; His name (of course, you want to know), His name was Henry Black."

Sam looked upon the dollar bright And what do you suppose?— The self-same dollar that same night Still slept in Snyder's clothes!

ROCK CREEKERS MINING WORK ENJOYING FALL IS UNDER WAY

NEW ROAD BUILT IN DISTRICT NO. 18.

Personal Mention Covering District About Rock Creek.

Lone Elm Ranch, Rock Creek, Union County, Oregon, October 1.—(Special)—Autumn is here with a profusion of green and yellow and crimson coloring, and autumn daisies and purple and blue flowers, that make the landscape cheerful while winter vegetables are in process of maturing, and the farmer's heart can scarcely be other than gladdened by the generous prospect before him.

Ol Sol kept on his good behavior while transmitting himself to summer climes below the "line" and refrained from giving us any disagreeable storms as he sometimes does, so we had pleasant weather the past month although a few nights were rather cold.

Supervisor Montgomery brought out his force of men and gave them a strenuous week's work on the notorious rock pile of Sheep Creek hill endeavoring to construct a respectable highway along that impregnable waste of public possession and although he was compelled to exceed the financial limit accorded him for the purpose by the county authorities, he succeeded in accomplishing a fine job of work under existing circumstances, and gave us a real dirt road fit for an automobile drive. Indeed, supervisor R. D. 18 is a trump in the highway business. We would say right here, if Union county and especially the city of La Grande wishes to boost their country and induce trade from neighboring localities to promote their business well, no better way can be devised than by having good roads leading into the principal town and shipping point. We have timber, grass water and soil in abundance and of the finest quality, but oh "dem roads."

Mrs. Sam Frakes and children from Starbuck, Wash., came for a short visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burnap near Rock Creek, returning home Wednesday, Sept. 27.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston took dinner in the city last Sunday with their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Fred Klees, it being the first anniversary of their marriage.

Grandma Spears still enjoys the comforts and pleasures of a long life filled with earnest endeavors and contentment, and her many friends hope she may be spared among them many years more.

A heavy rain visited us on Sunday last terminating in a little snow about two inches in depth but soon disappearing. Without any serious effect on the temperature.

Eugene and Noel Burnap and their families from Touchet, Wash., are visiting their father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Burnap.

LICK CREEK OUT FROM WALLOWA SHOWS RICHNESS.

Shafts and Cross Cuts Show Good Pay Stuff in That Section.

Wallowa, Ore., Oct. 3.—(Special)—C. A. McClaren returned Monday morning from Lick Creek where he has been with High Williams. Mr. McClaren brought back with him some fine copper ore specimens from the Williams Bros.' mine.

The development work is progressing rapidly, he states, everything is being done in the best of shape and when the work is finished it is permanent. They have one tunnel 600 feet, another 67 feet and a shaft sunk 30 feet on the vein.

The 600 foot tunnel is in ore all the way and they are running it to tap the shaft. When they get under the shaft they will make a raise and make connections with the shaft, which will be something like 150 feet in depth. Where they have cross-cut the vein in the long tunnel it measures 22 feet in width, the ore being about the same in character all the way across the ledge.

They have 14 claims in the group and have a fine surface showing on all of them. They will keep a force of men at work on the claims this winter.

They have a wagon road within one mile of the mines now, having built seven miles of road last year. When the road is completed they will commence shipping ore.

New Seminary Buildings Dedicated.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 5.—Before one of the most distinguished gatherings of educators and churchmen ever held for such a purpose, the ten new buildings of the Chicago Lutheran Theological seminary at Maywood were formally dedicated today with an all day program of exercises. The program was ushered in this morning with an historical address by Rev. Dr. Henry Warren Foth, of Greenville, president of Muhlenberg college, Allentown, Pa., and Rev. Dr. Samu l Wagenhais, of Fort Wayne, Ind., delivered the dedicatory addresses. The afternoon was given over largely to addresses of greeting by representatives of colleges and theological seminaries throughout the country. An inspection of the new buildings followed the conclusion of the exercises.

First Quaker Town Celebrates.

Salem, N. J., Oct. 5.—Jerseyites hereabouts today celebrated the 236th anniversary of the landing of John Fenwick on Oct. 5, 1675. Fenwick, sailing from London with a few associates, found his way up the Assam-hocking river and settled here. The town was the first permanent English settlement in New Jersey as well as the first Quaker settlement in America. The anniversary celebration today included historical exercises and a military and civic parade.

The Gossard corsets. They lace in front, without belts, buckles, bands, straps or other contrivances. They are cut exactly like a surgical bandage. They gently support the organs, impel correct poise, deep breathing, correct position, both sitting and standing, and have beautiful artistic lines.

A LITTLE LESSON IN ECONOMY
QUESTION.—Suppose you have two men working for you. The first you pay $1 a day; the second $2. The second man does three times as much work as the first. Which is cheaper for you?
ANSWER.—The second man because he gives you better value for your money.
NOW TAKE LIGHTS. Oil lamps seem cheap when none of the disadvantages are taken into consideration. But for very little more you can have electric lamps giving many times the light. Besides they are clean, odorless, safe and convenient.
When you consider how little more you pay, and how much more service you get, you cannot but agree that, at our present rates, electricity furnishes the best and cheapest service. Phone Main 34 for rates.
