COYOTE PROOF PASTURE PAYS

WALLOWA GOVERNMENT RANGE EXPERIMENT GOOD.

Found Sheep Thrive Well and Losses Have Been Found Few.

Mr. Jardine, who has during the past four years, been overseeing the work carried on in connection with the forest service coyote proof pasture, visited the pasture last week in order to secure weight of sheep turned loose to graze last April, says the Wallowa Sun. The results were highly gratifying and will be of great interest to the stockmen of this county.

On June 26, when the sheep were placed in the pasture, twenty average sized lambs were weighed and marked. They were in poor flesh at the time and averaged 45.15 pounds. They were weighed again on September 21, after half a day of feed. The average weight was 68.85 pounds—an average gain of 23.70 pounds.

The same number of lambs on an outside band belonging to Mr. Dobbin were weighed on June 26 and averaged 53.95 pounds. These lambs were in good condition and were two weeks older than the pasture lambs. They were weighed again on Sept. 20 and average 75.6 pounds, showing a gain of 21.65 pounds. The result of the experiment shows that the pasture band, grazing at will, made a heavier gain than the outside bunch. Less range was used by the pasture sheep and the loss was 1/2 of 1 per cent as against 2 1/2 per cent in the outside band.

First Sale Disposes of Over Three Thousand Sacks.

(Elgin Recorder.)

The first sale of potatoes of any importance to be recorded this season took place the latter part of the week when Harry McNab and Cadin Crawford disposed of about 3,500 sacks to L. A. Stoop. The purchase price is not known, but it is said to be a good figure, and such that indicates that the humble tuber is rapidly becoming the important crop in the Elgin section.
