AIR CURRENTS.

The Forces That Operate to Make the Wind Blow.

In reference to air currents and the reasons why the wind blows the astronomer royal of England explains that air consists of gaseous particles, all trying to get away from one another, and that under certain conditions they can be compelled to come closer together by contraction or forced to fly further apart by expansion. A quart bottle, for example, holds twenty-two grains of air at the temperature of 70 degrees. If the bottle be cooled by surrounding it with ice the air inside contracts. When this occurs more air rushes in through the bottle's neck. The quart of air now weighs more than twenty-two grains. If the bottle be heated the air it contains expands, its tiny particles fly further asunder, and many of them escape from the bottle altogether. There is still a quart of air, but it weighs much less than the original twenty-two grains.

Now, consider the earth and the sea under the influence of varying degrees of the sun's heat. Where the heat is greatest the air is made lighter and expands. Where the heat is least the air is unexpanded and heavy. Both the hot and the cold air have weight, but the cold, being the heavier, is drawn more effectively down to the ground. In doing so it drives the lighter air up out of its way, just as a lump of lead dropped into a pail of water forces some of the water upward. If the earth were equally warm at every part and continued at a constant temperature wind could not exist. It "blows" because of heat and gravitation. In other words, air moves from the place where its weight or pressure is most toward the place where its weight or pressure is least.

STORIES OF ROSSINI.

His Dread of Thirteen and Friday and a Coincidence.

Rossini had scant patience with amateur composers. One such once accompanied the manuscript of his latest composition with a Stilton cheese, of which he knew Rossini to be fond. He hoped of course to have a letter praising his work. A letter came, but all it said was: "Thanks. I like the cheese very much."

When Rossini was rehearsing one of his operas in a small theater in Italy he noticed that the horn was out of tune.

"Who is that playing the horn in such an unholly way?" he demanded. "It is I," said a tremulous voice. "Ah, it is you, is it? Well, go right home." It was his own father.

Rossini's whimsicality extended even to his birthday. Having been born on Feb. 29, in leap year, he had of course a birthday only once in four years, and when he was seventy-two he facetiously invited his friends to celebrate his eighteenth birthday.

All his life he had a dread of the number thirteen, as well as of Fridays. He never would invite more than twelve to dinner, and once when he had fourteen he made sure of an understudy who would, at a moment's notice, have been ready to come should one guest have missed. And, though this was a double superstition, he died on Friday, Nov. 13.—New York Sun.

WILL INSTALL OFFICERS

TUESDAY MUSICALS HAS IMPORTANT SESSION TOMORROW.

Old Officers to Retire in Favor of New Managers of Club.

Secretary Mrs. L. F. Dunn has issued an urgent call to members of the Tuesday Musicals for its installation meeting tomorrow. At that time the old officers will give over the affairs of the club to those recently elected and much business of a general order will be transacted. Hence it is important that all members be present. The year book for the club is now on the press and calls for a list of excellent programs.

Buys Island Home.

Saturday Amzie Fines of Shelton, Nebraska and a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Fritz purchased 80 acres of land including the improvement of B. W. Schroeder who resides three miles east of Island city. It is understood that the consideration was about $7,500. Mr. Fines does not expect to take possession until early next spring. Geo. E. Currey, the land man, negotiated the sale. Mr. Schroeder has made a great success of raising poultry and contemplates going into the business extensively. It is worthy of note that of the many sales that have been made this fall very few are leaving.
