MRS. HUDSON, PIONEER, DIES

RESIDENT OF UNION, FORMERLY OF LA GRANDE.

Woman Who Came to Oregon in Early Days Dies at Union Saturday

Union, Oct. 9.—(Special)—Mrs. Louisa Anne Hudson, a pioneer, died at her home in Union Saturday morning, Oct. 7.

Mrs. Hudson was born in Patrick county, Virginia, Feb. 16, 1827. At the age of five years her parents moved to Missouri where she was brought up. She married Thos. R. Hudson, in 1844 and eight years later they emigrated to Marlan county, Oregon. In 1870 they moved to La Grande but later moved to Union.

Mrs. Hudson was the mother of nine children of whom J. C. Hudson of Pullman, Wash., J. A. Hudson and S. C. Hudson of Helena, Mont., and W. H. and G. H. Hudson of Union survive her. Her son in law, Jos. Wright, granddaughter, Mrs. John Ross and great-granddaughter Miss Nina Ross were down from Baker for the funeral which was held from the residence Sunday morning.

First Veterinary School.

As nearly as the facts can be got at the first veterinary school was founded in the city of Lyons, France, about the middle of May of the year 1761. Since 1761 veterinary schools have spread all over the civilized world, especially in Germany, France, England and the United States of America, in which advanced countries the horse has the benefit of a fine science as that which exists for his master, man.—New York American.

Her Answer.

He—I am going to make you a present of a bracelet for your birthday. Which do you prefer—silver or gold?

She is silent.

He—Well, which do you want?

She is silent still.

He—Why don't you speak? I ask you which do you prefer—silver or gold?

Then he suddenly remembered that "silence is golden."

Creating an Impression.

"Is he really a great scientist?" "I have my doubts," replied Miss Jayenne. "I suspect he is one of the scientists who get their reputations by sitting down to a dinner table and saying chloride of sodium instead of salt."—Washington Star.

Her Choice.

"I believe there's good people in all denominations," Mrs. Lapsing said, "but as for myself I always go to one of the orchard or churches."—Chicago Tribune.

A sharp tongue is the only edged tool that grows keener with constant use.—Irving.

CARS ARE ICED WITH GLOVES

SOUTHERN PACIFIC LEADS HARMAN LINES IN SCHEME.

Cars to Be Iced by Casually Dressed Employees Hereafter.

San Francisco, Oct. 9.—(Special)—If you happen to be traveling over any part of the Pacific system of the Southern Pacific company, and if you notice, as your train pulls into a station, a man attired in a white duck suit, white cap and rubber gloves, do not get the impression that he is a public health inspector and that your train is liable to be delayed until he has completed an inspection, nor need you fear that the train may possibly be quarantined. That is not his duty. He is the man who fills the ice receptacles on the Southern Pacific dining and passenger coaches and he is following the latest sanitary measures that have been adopted by the corporation.

This new feature in the icing of passenger trains was inaugurated by H. V. Platt, general superintendent of the southern district of the Southern Pacific company, and was first tried out on the Los Angeles division.

At each point where trains are iced, the ice is handled in absolutely clean carts, lined with galvanized iron or zinc, and the interior is scalded twice daily with steam. The ice is handled by employees dressed in white duck suits and caps, and rubber gloves, all of which are furnished by the company. Employees are required, sufficiently in advance of arrival of trains, to prepare themselves for the handling of the ice. The ice, however, is handled with rubber gloves, and from the time of its manufacture until the time it reaches the receptacle in the cars it is protected against contamination.

This new mode of handling the ice for the passenger cars of the company, tried out on the Los Angeles division, has proved so successful that it has been ordered installed on all of the lines of the Pacific system. The carts are covered with canvas at all times and are fully protected from flying particles of dirt.

THE OLD TIME DOCTOR.

His Hardships Were Many, and His Rewards Were Not Great.

The strongest impression gained in reading of the experiences of old time physicians is of their boldness and daring. Most of them were by necessity surgeons as well as doctors of medicine. Isolated often from other members of their profession and obliged to bear the entire responsibility of the welfare of their patients, they learned to rely upon themselves and to take chances that would make the general practitioner shudder in these days of many specialists and wide division of labor. Perhaps none ever undertook surgical operations who had no training in that line, but with no hospitals within reach, with few instruments and with the modern antiseptics and nursing systems undreamed of, they ventured to use the knife in critical cases and, as it appears, with a large measure of success.

They were faithful, hardworking servants of the public in the early day. They traveled by horseback over trails that took them through forests and swamps and across streams. Their field of practice often included a large territory, and they were necessarily out in all sorts of weather and encountered hardships of various kinds. Nor were the rewards great. Few of those old time doctors accumulated wealth, some of them not even a competence for old age. But it is easy to see that they were a force in the community and had much to do with the general development of the state.—Indianapolis Star.

BIRTH OF A HYMN.

How Dr. Bennett Came to Write "The Sweet By and By."

The popular hymn, "The Sweet By and By," was written by Dr. S. Fillmore Bennett at Elkhorn, Wis., in 1867, especially for "The Signet Ring," a book of hymns of which he is said to have written more than a hundred. At that time Bennett was associated with J. P. Webster, the composer, who had an exceedingly melancholy disposition. One day Bennett remarked to Webster, "Well, what's the matter now?" "It's no matter," dolefully replied Webster. "It will be all right by and by."

Bennett at once seized his pen and wrote the immortal words of the song. Webster, his gloom vanished, wrote out a few notes and played them on his violin, and these two, with N. H. Carwell and S. E. Bright, were singing the hymn within half an hour from the time Bennett began writing. R. H. Crosby, who entered at the moment, exclaimed, "That hymn is immortal!"

Bennett was born at Eden, N. Y., in 1836. He resigned his position as editor of the Independent at Elkhorn to enter the war between the states and at the end of his service studied medicine and engaged in the drug business at Elkhorn till he became associated with Webster in song writing. He died at Richmond, Ill., in 1898.—New York Tribune.

The Argan Tree.

Among the most remarkable trees of the world is the argan, which abounds in southern Morocco, but is seldom seen elsewhere. A "forest" of argans has a curious scattered appearance because the trees grow singly and far apart. They are very leafy, but seldom exceed twenty feet in height. The branches put out horizontally and begin a yard above the ground. Sheep, cattle and camels feed on the leaves, and goats will stand on their hind legs to reach them, but horses and mules refuse to touch them. The wood is very hard and extremely useful to the natives, who make charcoal from it. The fruit, resembling a large olive, is used to feed cattle and to manufacture a valuable oil. It also furnishes the principal sustenance of many of the poorer natives.—Scientific American.

A LITTLE LESSON IN ECONOMY
QUESTION.—Suppose you have two men working for you. The first you pay $1 a day; the second $2. The second man does three times as much work as the first. Which is cheaper for you?
ANSWER.—The second man because he gives you better value for your money.
NOW TAKE LIGHTS. Oil lamps seem cheap when none of the disadvantages are taken into consideration. But for very little more you can have electric lamps giving many times the light. Besides they are clean, odorless, safe and convenient.
When you consider how little more you pay, and how much more service you get, you cannot but agree that, at our present rates, electricity furnishes the best and cheapest service. Phone Main 34 for rates.
