COMING ATTRACTIONS.

"The Sweetest Girl in Paris," Harry Askin's premier musical comedy, is repeating on tour the success that they have been enjoying in Chicago for the past six months. In every city where it has been seen, and it has played many of the metropolises of the north-west and west, the critical comment has been flattering in the extreme. The production with the original cast will be seen at the Steward Opera House on Monday evening, Oct. 16,

Take for instance the opinion of the Milwaukee News. "It isn't often that a company goes on tour without change. Shrewd managers have a habit of cutting down expenses by cheapening the production through the lessening of the cast, but in this instance the manager can safely plead, not guilty. The fun-maker who delighted the people of Chicago are still doing stunts under the spot lights—a fact which should be thoroughly appreciated by the playgoers. A full measure of amusement is served to them by a full balanced, energetic company, which seems to lack none of the essentials of success.

WANT DEEP RIVER.

Big Proposition to Middle West Under Discussion.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 11.—Prepared to renew its fight for a stupendous inland waterway system from Lake Michigan through the Mississippi river to the Gulf of Mexico, the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway association will begin its sixth annual convention in Chicago tomorrow with what promises to be a record breaking attendance. Secretary Thomas H. Lovelace of the association is in receipt of advices indicating that nearly 10,000 delegates and visitors will attend the gathering. Every state in the Mississippi valley and most of the middle western states, it is announced will be represented by large delegations, including governors and other state officials and committees representing the legislatures, aside from the representatives of numerous commercial and industrial organizations which have committed themselves in favor of the great waterway project.

Western and northwestern states touching navigable tributaries of the Mississippi also will be well represented. The gulf states and the southwest, including Texas and Oklahoma, have shown a marked increase of interest in the project. Among the governors who have promised to attend the congress are John Burke of North Dakota, Charles S. Osborn of Michigan, Chester H. Aldrich of Nebraska, Joseph M. Carey of Wyoming, E. F. Noel of Mississippi, Augustus E. Wilson of Kentucky, C. L. Blease of South Carolina, B. F. Carroll of Iowa, Emmett O'Neal of Alabama, J. Y. Sanders of Louisiana, Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri, and Charles S. Deneen of Illinois. A special invitation has been extended to Canada to participate in the congress and it is expected that several public officials of the Dominion and some of the commercial organizations will be represented.

At the initial session to be held in the auditorium tomorrow the opening address will be delivered by W. K. Kavanaugh of St. Louis, the president of the congress. Among other notable speakers to be heard during the three days' sessions are Secretary of the Interior W. L. Fisher, former Governor David P. Francis of Missouri, Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio, Congressman Underwood of Alabama, former Governor Joseph W. Folk of Missouri, Congressman Joseph G. Cannon of Illinois, and O. P. Austin, chief of the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor.

The most important work of the meeting will hinge on resolutions and committee appointments, and it is proposed to organize an executive committee which cannot fail to command the attention of congress in the matter of deep waterways. The lakes-to-the-gulf project is the largest and the most important scheme for an inland waterway that has ever been proposed in this country and would benefit directly more than one third of the states of the union. An initial minimum of 14 feet depth is advocated for the Mississippi and its tributaries with an indorsed desire for a final depth of 20 feet. The association wishes to furnish the central part of the United States with a waterway which will enable the movement of the large freight and passenger vessels to serve the expanse from the Rocky Mountains to the Alleghenies, 2,765,000 square miles. The region is among the most productive in the world, and with water transportation to compete with rail, it will have the advantage of unequaled facilities.

The Illinois and Mississippi rivers will be the main arteries of the proposed system, with the tributaries as laterals. In general, the plans provide for a great system of waterways to connect all interior states, with outlets on the great lakes and the gulf of Mexico.
