D-W ENGINEER BADLY INJURED

BOTH FEET CUT OFF BY PASSENGER TRAIN.

Life Saved By Merest Chance—Spectators Witness Scene.

Pendleton, Oct. 11.—Many years of service and long experience during which he has boarded hundreds of moving trains, failed to save Jack Wright of Starbuck, one of the oldest and most popular engineers in the O-W. R. & N., serice from the loss of both feet and possibly fatal injuries at the local depot this afternoon.

Aimed the shrieks of scores of bystanders, the engineer, who had arrived at the depot late, ran after No. 17, which was pulling out of the station, and in attempting to board the forward coach, slipped and was dragged along the platform for a distance of nearly one hundred yards. His feet were both ground on at the axle.

Remaining on the platform of the rapidly moving coach, seized Wright by the collar and made an attempt to pull him inside, but the weight of the engineer was too great and he was compelled to release his grip, permitting the engineer to fall to his fate.

A brakeman on the train realizing the engineer's predicament, rushed forward, jumped and pulled Wright from beneath the wheels, probably saving his life. Three coaches passed completely over the severed members before the train came to a standstill.

Still conscious, Wright, when picked up, pleaded pitifully with persons who were lifting him on to the stretcher to shot him, and begged some on in the crowd to replace his shoes.

The ambulance was summoned by phone from the station and the man was quickly conveyed to St. Anthony's hospital.

Justice of the Peace Parks and F. P. Round were witnesses of the accident. They also saw the passenger on the moving train trying to save the doomed man.

Wright has a so running as a conductor on the Washington-Spokane division of the O-W. R. & N., who is well known here.

LIBRARY GETS HISTORIC PAPER.

O. A. C. Receives Copy of New York Herald Announcing Lincoln's Assassination.

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Ore. Oct. 11.—(Special)—A copy of the New York Herald of April 15, 1865, announcing the assassination of President Lincoln, has just been presented to the library of the Oregon Agricultural College.

This old newspaper, brown with age, is nevertheless in excellent condition of preservation. It is of course heavily black leaded on the first page, in mourning for the death of the chief executive. Hardly less in historical importance are the descriptions given in it of the surrender of the Southern armies under Jeff Davis; his last appeal to his followers and the surrender of the chief army under Juarez in Central Mexico.

Another newspaper of interest because of its great difference in form from American journals, the Arbroath Guide, from the West Coast of Scotland, has also just been presented to the library.
