PLUCKY PITCHING.

Vedder Sitton's Feat That Landed a Championship Pennant.

In the greatest finish that ever marked a minor league race New Orleans and Nashville, Southern league contenders, had come to the wire neck and neck. On Sept. 19, 1908 they met in the final and decisive game of the year upon exactly even terms. The entire fighting of the past five months had centered in that one contest, five months packed into two hours of play, with the result to tell the story of the year's success or failure. Manager Frank of New Orleans, unwilling to run any needless risk, selected the veteran Theodore Breitenstein of St. Louis and Cincinnati fame to battle for his people in the box. Manager Bernhard of Nashville, passing by his veterans, selected young Vedder Sitton, an ex-collegian, to face the $10,000 wonder of another day.

For six innings so perfect was the defensive play of both sides that neither team was able to score. In the seventh inning Nashville scored one run, and in the play involved young Sitton slid headforemost into the plate and fell over unconscious from the blow received just above the eyes. With the situation as tightly drawn as it was, disaster looked to be imminent. Bernhard immediately rushed his entire remaining staff back of the clubhouse to be ready for the call, while two physicians worked above the unconscious Sitton. He came to life again just as the Nashville team was taking the field for the eighth inning with another in his place.

Staggering to his feet, Sitton insisted upon finishing the contest, and Bernhard, against his better judgment, gave way. The heavy barring end of the New Orleans team was up in order. With bandaged head, his face still white and drawn from the shock, in no condition to stand, still less to lead a desperate charge, Sitton electrified the crowd by striking out two of the first three men that faced him in the ninth he added two more victims to the list in bringing home the victory by the score of 1 to 0, winning the pennant by the margin of one point. And then he collapsed. It was over two weeks before he recovered sufficiently to be up and about, and yet New Orleans batsmen relate that in those last two innings he had shown more "stuff" by a wide margin than at any other stage of the battle—American Magazine.

New "Maxwell" Special

Go over it point by point. We ask you to do so just as carefully, critically and systematically as you inspected the competing automobiles. The United States Motor Company is the builder of the Big, New Stylish Maxwell Special. It is proud of the car. It is confident of its superior excellence. It thinks there is no other car quite like it, or nearly its equal within $500 of its price. But, in fairness to the prospective buyer, this Company believes firmly in the mutual benefit to be derived from a real comparison of automobiles. We think you will gain by such a course, because when you eventually do buy, you will know exactly what your money is obtaining for you in comparative value. We believe this Company also will benefit, because our product is RIGHT. So, we ask every man interested in the purchase of a medium-priced automobile to go over the list carefully and critically. Find out what are said to be the strong points of each automobile. Also look for the absence of those qualities which you will learn to want in your car. After going through this little educational course—it will not take long—come to see and try the Maxwell Special. First, let us consider POWER. In what other car, within $500 of the price, did you find 36 horse power? In what other car, of the class, did you find an engine the equal of the Maxwell Special's 4 1-4 x 5 1-4 long stroke, smooth-running motor? With its large valves, adjustable push rods, self-contained automatic oiling system, Stromberg carburetor, dual ignition with Splitorf magneto and batteries, you have more power at your command than you would have in any competing car. Now, as to STYLE. We know you will not find the equal of the Maxwell Special—its graceful, beautiful lines, its Columbia Honeycomb type radiator, deep, black upholstery and the quiet, superb finish of Royal green with Wedgwood green wheels. Then, first and last, analyze the price. Unequaled factory facilities of this Company with its fourteen great plants have made the price of the Maxwell Special a possibility. We are confident any other manufacturer would lose money on this automobile at this price. We believe you will share this confidence after the comparison. That's the reason we ask you to make it.
