

The Isthmian Theatre

ANOTHER MONSTER PROGRAM.

"A Boy of the Revolution Days" Pathe
A fine story of the early days. Thrilling and historical.

"The Arrow Head" ... Lubin
Story of the recovery after many years of two children who had been captured in their infancy by Indians. This story is founded on facts and is magnificently portrayed.

"Queer Folks" and "The Wrong Patient" ... Vitagraph
Not room enough to describe them here. Look at the press notice in another column. Side-splitting, rip roaring comedy. A cure for all ills.

PERSONALS

Sheriff Childers is confined to his home today with an attack of illness.

E. M. Howard was at the Foley last night from Boise.

M. B. Leavens was here from Portland staying at the Foley last night.

Chief of Police Walden went to Portland this morning on business matters.

Mrs. W. A. Black and Mrs. Porter, her mother, are visiting friends in La Grande.

F. S. Bramwell, manager of the Amalgamated Sugar company is in Wallowa today transacting company business.

Anton Kleese and his son, L. N. Kleese, were La Grande visitors from Summerville last night. They registered at the Foley. They are lumbermen and own the light plant there.

Dr. Willis Coyle, and wife, state organizer for the Independent Order of Puritans, was called to Walla Walla this morning by telegram, announcing the death of his sister, Mrs. Wm. F. Courteny, an old pioneer of that place.

Attorney T. M. Dill, deputy district attorney for Wallowa county, passed through La Grande today en route to Enterprise from Pendleton, where he has been attending the supreme court. Attorney Dan Sheahan was also a passenger this morning on his return from Pendleton, too.

C. H. Thorp, member of the United States forestry service and who is stationed at Wallowa, Oregon, was a member of the class admitted to the legal profession today when the supreme court passed upon the qualifications of those in the group. Mr. Thorp is intending to remain in the government service and is going to Portland to take an examination for the position of law examiner in the solicitor's office—Pendleton East Oregonian.

Queer Newspaper Names.
The Italians are naturally an imaginative race, and the titles which they give to their newspapers, especially in the provinces, fully confirm the fact. Here are some instances of the curiosities:
At Aquil, in Piedmont, there is Il Bollette (the boiling one); at Gerace, the Circus of Nero; at Messina, the Lightning; at Lucca, the Second Lightning; at Monbercelli, the Indeflexible; at Catania, the New Marionettes.

Humorous publications rejoice in ever stranger titles. We have the Contropelo (shave against the grain) at Naples, the Two of Spades at Turin, the Slip in the Face at Bologna, the Pif Paf at Palermo, the Brush at Cattanssetta and the Mosquito at Savigliano.

Dark Stars.
Scattered through space are innumerable stars that give forth very little light or heat. Either they were never at any period of their history bright and glowing like the myriad stars that make the midnight sky so beautiful or in the course of countless ages the heat they once possessed has radiated away from them into the depth of space, and now they are, as their name describes them, "dark stars."

LIGHT SYSTEM WORKS NICELY

POLICE AND FIRE ALARMS PROVE SATISFACTORY.

System has Already Been Put to Much Use by the Public Here.

The new light police alarm is working like a charm, and already the general public is commencing to realize the benefits of the service. Hardly a night goes by but what the police are called from their beats at a moment's notice by the light system. When an officer is wanted for any purpose, or in case of a fire, the telephone central office is notified and instantly red lights are aglow in various sections of the city where they can be seen by the policemen and they answer. The same rule holds for fire alarms at night when policemen will be called to ring the fire bell by the light method.

SEASICKNESS.

It is Not Beneficial, and in Rare Cases It Causes Death.

In the light of modern intelligence the once popular idea that seasickness was of real benefit to the sufferer and that it never terminated fatally has been exploded. Not only is this malady to be guarded against by every means possible, but it is even to be dreaded by those who are not over robust as leading to possible fatal results.

The old fashioned notion that a good dose of seasickness was beneficial was due wholly to the fact that upon recovery the victim of mal de mer is usually so delighted that he is apt to imagine that he never felt better in his life, while feeling normal again is merely so great a contrast to the exceedingly wretched condition which this disorder brings about that exaggeration of one's feelings is the most natural thing in the world. Seasickness is far from pleasant. It is not beneficial, and in rare cases it terminates fatally.

There is one consolation, however, that with the growth of the size of ships and the increase of speed travelers are to a certain extent insured against it or if attacked are certain that their sufferings will be short.—Marine Journal.
