TURKS' APPEAL FOR AID HEADED

UNCLE SAM WILL STOP ATROCIOUS ACTS AT TRIPOLI

CRUISER RUSHES FOR MALTA WHEN APPEAL IS RECEIVED

Italy Glad to Get Away From Tripoli If Able to Do So Graciously—State Department Reluctant About Discussing Situation—Would Rather Have Other Governments Act First—Caneva Interested in His Own Safety.

Washington, Nov. 6.—The United States cruiser Chester left Malta today for Tripoli where the Turks' charges of barbarous treatment of non-combatants will be investigated. The state department is reticent but it is believed the action is the result of the Turks' appeal.

Washington, Nov. 6.—The question of the United States intervening in the Turkish-Italian war to prevent barbarities has been put up to President Taft following Turkey's appeal for aid, but although the appeal took the form of a practical demand in the name of humanity to stop the Tripoli atrocities it is believed the United States will be slow to act as the state department hesitates to step into the European situation until the powers directly interested take action.

The Italian charge d'affaires Cambiolo strenuously denied the Italians committed any atrocities in Tripoli and says the reports are the results of a campaign conducted by the Turks to create sympathy on false claims.

Nice, France, Nov. 6.—Rome advices indicate that Italy will be glad to drop Tripoli if she could leave there without tarnishing her national honor. It is known fresh reinforcements of 20,000 troops are being secretly assembled at Naples to support the Tripolitan army which is practically besieged in Tripoli.

It is reported that General Frusoni has been chosen to succeed General Caneva as the head of the Tripolitan army. Caneva takes too many precautions for his personal safety and it is reported that he has never went to the front during a battle but remained hidden in the citadel.

"FAIR" JUROR IS AILING.

Manning Excused for Illness—Andrews Let Go by the Judge.

Los Angeles, Nov. 6.—There were 20 members of the fourth venire on hand for examination when the McNamara trial reopened today.

The judge allowed the defense challenge against Juror Andrew and he was excused. Juror Manning, considered by both sides as eminently fair, was also excused because his health was too frail for the long trial. Andrews said he disliked the unions and couldn't be fair.

He said he felt he could not give McNamara a fair trial, owing to the fact that he believed the Times was dynamited and the people who were in it and his friends and all seemed to think union labor was indirectly responsible.

McKellar to Succeed Gordon.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 6.—A special election will be held tomorrow in the Tenth congressional district of Tennessee to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Gen. George W. Gordon. As Kenneth D. McKellar, the democratic nominee, is virtually unopposed his election to the seat is assured.

Rogers appeared greatly rested after his flight of yesterday. He drank three glasses of cream this morning and when he started for the tournament park he left the hotel by the rear to escape the women who are trying to lionize him.

POMP VENEERS INAUGURATION

MADERO MADE PRESIDENT AMID WILD CHEERINGS

PROMISES PEACE AND LIBERTY TO HIS ENEMIES

Big Banquet Follow His Inaugural Address That Is Filled With Cheering—President Rides Through the Street With Revolutions Seething All About Him—Big Inaugural Address Tonight.

Mexico City, Nov. 6.—Lavish pomp veneered the internal dissensions of a disrupted country today when Francisco Madero was inaugurated president of Mexico. With three distinct revolutionary plots seething, Madero drove smilingly through the streets surrounded by 1,000 troops, to the chamber of deputies where the inaugural service took place at noon.

Speaking before 20,000 in the square Madero promised them peace for at least three months and promised to make the country peaceful. He was wildly cheered.

The address concluded, bands struck up the national anthem and the populace joined in the singing and then dispersed to big free banquets which the president had ordered prepared.

Tonight a huge inaugural ball is to take place at the governor's palace. Provisional President de la Barra leaves tonight for Europe. He is popular.

MORE MANCHU CREWS GIVE OVER SHIPS TO REBELS

Cable News Tells of Peking's Fall to Rebels' Hands—Prince's Flight From City to Avid Death—General Conditions Indicate Sudden End of the Manchu Dynasty in the Flowery Kingdom.

Vancouver, British Columbia, Nov. 6.—Late cablegrams from Hong Kong practically confirm the fall of Peking. They say the emperor escaped by flight but Prince Ching was taken prisoner by the rebels.

Washington, Nov. 6.—No Peking dispatches have been received here today. It is unknown therefore, whether the capitol has fallen or not.

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—Local Chinese revolutionists consider the fall of Peking incredible but they generally accept the report as true.

MAYBRAY TOOL CAUGHT AGAIN

MAN WHO HELPED FLEECE PENDLETON MAN NABBED.

Taken in Los Angeles and Is on His Way to Portland Now.

San Jose, Nov. 6.—Preparations are made today to turn A. A. West, arrested here and positively identified as a member of the notorious Maybray gang of fixed race swindlers, over to the Portland police who want him. He was arrested here some time ago on a charge of selling lands in Mexico he didn't own and finally was identified as the much sought for man who broke his parole in Oregon six years ago and fled.

Helped Rob Pendleton Man.

Portland, Nov. 6.—West who was arrested in Los Angeles, operated with the Maybray gang in Seattle when Charles Cunningham, the Pendleton sheep king, was fleeced of several thousand in a fixed wrestling bout. Cunningham identified him but owing to pressure he dropped the case fearing notoriety. West was then known as Campbell. He is wanted here for breaking parole under a three year sentence for forgery.

The Maybray crowd has robbed people of millions from Chicago to the coast, by working faked and fixed horse races, dog fights, bicycle races, prize fights, wrestling matches and footraces. At the time they were uncovered and broken up they had a perfection of organization that included banks, officials of the county and town at Council Bluffs, where they headquartered.

WEALTH VEHICLE AT HIGH SPEED

STOCK CONDITIONS IN VALLEY NEAR PERFECTION

NOT A SINGLE CASE OF CONTAGION REPORTED IN

Shipment of Stock Rapid and Remunerative to Growers. Best Dairy Stock Breeders in Northwest Found Here—Six Hundred Head Being Fed to Show.

STOCK CONDITIONS LOCALLY

Not a case of contagion reported. Stock coming off ranges exceptionally fat and healthy. McKennon, Son & Chandler are feeding 600 head, from which is to be selected exhibits for live stock show at Portland. Seven carloads of horses sold in six week, averaging $160 per head. Five carloads of pure-bred milch cows sold to outside markets. Hog production far ahead of former years. Dairy business exceptionally bright and growing.

Grande Ronde valley stock—a vehicle to wealth that has been in the high speed gear for several years—assumes a tone of plenty, healthfulness and quality, that is focusing the eye of the buying public throughout the northwest with the coming of winter. Range stock has been, or is being, brought down for winter feeding and Stock Inspector Charlton today summarized stock conditions as being unusually pleasing.

As an indication of the amount of horses being handled here yearly it is but necessary to quote the sales of the past six weeks which include seven carloads, three carloads of which went to Los Angeles, two to Salem and two to Portland, bringing an average of $160 a head, with 20 horses to each carload. Among the heavy contributors to these shipments in so short a time are Fred Gaskil, J. D. McKennon, Floyd McKennon, Sam Brooks, N. K. West, Duncan MacDonald, William Leadbetter and others.

Another important item is that the valley is practically free from contagion, not a single case having come to the attention of the stock inspector.

This is the situation in brief of the horseflesh trade, but there are other phases of the stock interests which are highly encouraging.

Cattle, horses and sheep—the last named branch is not very extensively followed here—are coming down from the ranges in splendid fashion—fat, healthy and entirely free from disease.

Fine Milch Cows Sold.

The dairy business is growing by leaps and bounds and almost invariably, herds are of the purest breeds obtainable. Some of the best breeders in the country are to be found here. One result is the increasing amount of butter fat produced, and another is the increased sale of milch cows to critical buyers. Stock Inspector Charlton has given bills of health to five carloads of the purely bred variety of milch cows that have been sold of late to outside buyers. This phase is exceptionally pleasing to everyone.

Hog Production Big.

While other features of the stock business have been growing, the hog production has jumped to the forefront and never in the history of the

Novel Bicycle Ambulance Will Be Used by English Boy Scouts

A ambulance that can be attached as a trailer to an ordinary bicycle has been invented by Wallace Peet, commander of a division of boy scouts at Birmingham, England. The ambulance consists of a stretcher mounted on two light wheels. It is pulled by one rider mounted on the bicycle in front, though there are handles at the sides that will permit other riders to assist. There are springs under the front end of the stretcher which will absorb all vibration. A universal joint attaches the ambulance to the bicycle so that, no matter what happens to the rider, the ambulance can not tip sideways. Over rough country the ambulance may be detached from the bicycle and be propelled by hand or the stretcher may be removed and carried as an ordinary hand stretcher. London experts have declared the device to be the most practical yet devised, as it can turn in its own length. General Sir Robert Baden-Powell has inspected the machine, and he says he considers it a most useful vehicle in case of war. He is the head of the boy scouts of England and will recommend that the ambulance be adopted as a part of the field equipment of the scouts. It has already been used as an emergency stretcher in transporting injured jockeys at English race tracks. The lower picture shows a new device by which an invalid confined to his bed can get the benefits of the exercise of walking without using his muscles as the machine does the work.
