To Whom It May Concern:

Regarding the La Grande Manufacturing company which is now making the automatic threshers at the Walla Walla plant, being interested in that line of machinery, I have just returned from a trip of investigation from Walla Walla. I find that on looking over the machine which has been in use the past season, that it is going to be of great interest to the farmer in the way of saving grain, saving straw and a great reduction of hired labor. The automatic thresher is a combined separator, feeder, hoist and derrick mounted on one truck, doing away with the hoe down men and derrick teams. The machinery will save one half of the labor and more grain by having a steady feed that can be regulated while the machine is in motion. The machine will be built in sizes to suit the purchasers. I met the manager, Mr. John Shanks and find him to be a very conservative and reliable man. The statement of his plans are as follows:

First—the La Grande Manufacturing company is capitalized for $30,000, $1 per share.

Second—He intends to build during the winter, five machines for the coming season to be distributed to be distributed in different parts of the county and in order to do this he would like to dispose of some stock to enable him to put the machine on the market. The price of shares is $2 sold on ten month's time. Payments 10 per cent down and collectable the first of every month, or 10 per cent for cash. There is no doubt in my mind that the machine is what the farmer is looking for.

STALLION LAW IS OVERLOOKED

IMPORTANT REQUIREMENTS OF STATE MEASURE SHOWN.

Inspection Law Is Stringent and Must Be Adhered to.

Attention of the owners of stallions and jacks in Union county is called to the new stallion law which went into effect on May 20, 1911. A number of horsemen have not yet complied with the provisions of this law, says the stallion registration board in a notice from Corvallis. It is necessary that all stallions and jacks used for public service must be licensed by the state stallion registration board at Corvallis and that they must be inspected by an official inspector appointed by this board. Attention is also called to the fact that, according to this law, stallions which are in the state at the time the law goes into effect and licensed during the first season will be licensed even though unsound, although such unsoundness, if present, will be stated in the license. All horses, however, which are not used for public service and licensed during the first season will be refused license and not allowed to stand for public service unless they pass the proper veterinarian inspection.

It is very important, therefore, that horsemen who are delinquent in this matter get in their applications at once. Stallion owners who have already received licenses for their horses will confer a favor upon their neighbors by calling their attention to this fact.

Horsemen are also urgently requested not to purchase stallions or jacks until after they have been inspected by one of our state inspectors and have received their state license for otherwise it may prove that such stallions or jacks may prove unsound and hence not eligible to be used for breeding purposes in this state, or it may be found that their pedigrees are bogus and that they will have to be licensed as grades or mongrels instead of pure breeds as represented.

Persian Ware.

True porcelain was never produced in Persia, but hard paste porcelain in Persian forms and styles of decoration was made in China for the Persian market. Wine ewers with powder blue glaze and gold overglaze decoration, small vases and bowls with bronze luster glaze and designs reserved in white are found in collections of Persian ware, but these are unquestionably of Chinese origin.—Argonaut.

Homelike.

Mamma—Why are you hiding from your little brother, Lizzie? Lizzie—Oh, we are just playing. I'm the lady of the house, and Tommy is the butcher come with his bill.—Chicago News.

Woman's Intuition.

Mrs. Crabshaw—I can't understand why I didn't see those faults in you before we were married. Mr. Crabshaw—It's quite plain, my dear. I don't possess them.—Judge.
