NORFOLK TRIAL SMACKS OF HER STYLE.

Charles Merkle and Minnie Murdock Placed on Trial for Crimes.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 8.—In the trial of Mrs. Minnie L. Murdock and Charles Merkle, whose case came up in court here today, developments may come to light to show the case a parallel of the celebrated case of Mrs. Belle Guinness, the Indiana woman found guilty several years ago of conducting a murder farm. Like the Guinness woman, Mrs. Murdock is suspected of luring men to her little farm on the outskirts of this city and then murdering them for their money.

The specific charge upon which Mrs. Murdock and her employe, Merkle, are to be tried is the alleged murder of Harry Harding, sailor, whose body was found in a shallow grave on the Murdock farm early last summer. The discovery resulted from a statement made by an old negro who called at the sheriff's office and reported that he had been asked by Mrs. Murdock to dig a grave at the farm. Deputies hurried out, and, digging in an onion bed where the earth showed signs of recent disturbance, found at a depth of a foot the corpse of Harding, with its head crushed in with an axe.

Following her arrest Mrs. Merkle is said to have confessed to knowledge of the crime. According to her statement, Merkle, jealous of Harding, had murdered him single handed. She said she went to sleep while the men were quarreling. Presently she awoke put out her hand in the dark and on the pillow beside her felt the wet face of Harding smashed to a pulp. At Merkle's bidding she said she helped conceal the body under the bed, and the next night the two buried the remains in a shallow grave in the garden.

Search of the Merdock house is said to have brought to light several score of letters from men with whom the woman had corresponded through matrimonial agents. Two men seen with the woman are said to have disappeared mysteriously. One, a civil war veteran, vanished so completely that the thorough search made for him by his Grand Army post failed to find a trace of him.

Physicians of Four States Meet.

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 8.—The Ohio Valley Medical association, whose membership embraces many leading physicians and surgeons of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky, began its annual convention in this city today with a large attendance. At the initial session this morning Mayor Heilman welcomed the visitors and Dr. W. D. Haines of Cincinnati, president of the association, responded. The proceedings will continue over tomorrow.

TO THE VOTERS.
I hereby announce to the voters of La Grande that I am a candidate for chief of police. My work as an official in the past is my recommendation and I will appreciate any and all support given me.
