PROGRAM WILL BRING MITCHELL

SUCH AT LEAST IS POSSIBLE IF UNIONS HELP.

Principal Numbers of High Class Program Next Year Announced.

John Mitchell, vice president of the American Federation of Labor and former president of the United Mine Workers will head the next chautauqua attractions in this city if co-operation between labor unions of La Grande and the chautauqua is obtained here as it already has been in Boise, Oregon City and other chautauqua towns of the northwest. W. D. McMillan returned from Portland yesterday bringing home with him the list of attractions that have been definitely secured and returns with the information that all that stands between Mitchell's coming to La Grande will be co-operation on the part of union and labor men to meet the enormous expense entailed in bringing the stellar luminary of labordom to this city.

The program for next year is certainly high class," stated the local chautauqua booster today. "We have featured musical and labor numbers, getting away from the overabundance of addresses that prevailed last year." S. Platt Jones Complng. During the entire life of the chautauqua here, S. Platt Jones, an all around platform man and chautauqua manager, will be in the city and take personal management of the entire affair. He is a versatile entertainer himself and will fill in with numbers and take the place of attractions which for unavoidable reasons, cannot be present in case such a contingency should arise. This means much and places the chautauqua affairs in the hands of an expert who will see that something is doing every minute. Comes Earlier This Year.

Because of the national conclave of Elks at Portland commencing July 9, the chautauqua will be put ahead a few days and will start on June 29, closing on July 8. This is done in Boise and other towns, too, to forestall the influx to Portland during the progress of the chautauqua.

The Chicago Operatic company comprised of the soloists of the Chicago Apollo club, the finest musical organization in the world. This company will give the best in music and is the top line attraction at all chautauquas west of the Mississippi this year.

The Byron Troubadores, styled the Mexican Gypsies, comprising several musicians. The Cambridge players, made up of disciples of Elias Day, the noted impersonator, will be important features of the program. They stand for the highest attainments in drama that the Operatic company symbolizes in music. Sketches from the very best dramatic productions of the world's dramatic stage will be handled by these people.

John Mitchell (problematical), who stands for all that which is highest in the labor struggles; the man who has led labor toward organization and always without strikes if possible. Rev. E. H. Driggs, late of Leland Stanford university.

Thoughtful of Mother. Little Albert is a bright boy. In playing the other day he upset a beautiful imported flower holder, a gift to his mother from a friend who traveled abroad. "There, see what you've done," his mother said, pointing to the fragments on the floor. "Yes, mother, but don't take off your slippers. You might cut your feet," warned the lad.—Philadelphia Times.

Not Too Good. Uncle inquired of little Bobby if he had been a good boy. Bobby—No, I haven't. Uncle—Why, I hope you haven't been very bad. Bobby—Oh, no; just comfortable.

Blessings. Blessings may appear under the shape of pains, losses and disappointments, but let him have patience and he will see them in their proper figure.—Addison.

"SCAB'S" MEANING IS ISSUE.

Judge Tazwell Must Decide Whether Term Is Abusive.

(Portland Oregonian.)

If a union man calls a non-union man a "scab," is the union man guilty of using abusive language?

The question was submitted recently to the city attorney's office and is still as much a question as ever, an Acting City Attorney Tomlinson has been unable to decide the exact legal meaning of the word.

After debating the question for a week or more, Mr. Tomlinson shifted the task of deciding by issuing a warrant which will require Municipal Judge Tazwell to give an opinion on the question. A complaint was filed against John Doe Watkins, a railway striker, who is accused of having called A. W. Gaska, foreman at the Albina shops, "scab."

Gaska says he is working for the railway company by permission of the union of which he is a member and that he has been greatly abused in the present strike. Watkins, he says, insulted him recently at the supper table in a boarding house by calling him "scab" and other names.

MAX DILL COMING. Famous Comedian Will Come to La Grande for One Night.

Max Dill, universally regarded as the cleverest and best German comedian on the stage today will appear at the Steward opera house on Thursday, Nov. 23rd. The Rich Mr. Hogenheimer will be Dill's offering and it is considered by critics to be the best thing Mr. Dill has ever done. A lavish production in all features is promised. The company consists of 50 people. Among the principals are some of the best known people in America. The entire production is massive and elaborate beyond comparison.

NATIONAL GRANGE BEGINS ITS ANNUAL SESSIONS

Powerful Farmers' Organization Opens Annual Convention in Ohio City

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 16.—The National Grange, the largest and most influential organization of farmers in America, met for its annual session in Columbus today with delegates present from every state.

Additional interest is given the meeting this year by the probability its attention will be called to the charges made that the organization is controlled by certain powerful factors whose activity in national politics has militated against the success of the National Grange and minimized its influence.

AESCHYLUS.

Curious Fate That Overtook the Father of Greek Tragedy.

Aeschylus, the celebrated Greek dramatic writer, is universally referred to as the "father of Greek tragedy." Born of a noble family at Eleusis, in Attica, 525 B. C., at the age of twenty-four he first presented himself at the festival of Bacchus as a competitor for the public prize and fifteen years afterward gained his first victory. The pre-eminence which he thus acquired was successfully maintained till 468 B. C., when he was defeated in a similar contest by his younger rival, Sophocles.

Aeschylus, mortified at the indignity he thought this put upon him, quitted Athens and went to the court of Hiero, king of Syracuse. Of the remaining period of his life but little is known, except that he continued to prosecute his favorite pursuit, and that his residence in Sicily was of some duration may be inferred from the fact that it was sufficient to affect the purity of his language.

The thirteenth and last victory of Aeschylus was gained in 458 B. C. On the manner of his death, which was singular, the ancient writers are unanimous. While sitting motionless in the fields his bald head was mistaken for a stone by an eagle which happened to be flying over him with a tortoise in her bill. The bird dropped the tortoise to break the shell, and the poet was killed by the blow.

Aeschylus is said to have been the author of seventy tragedies, of which only seven are now extant.

Sea Springs. In the very hottest district in the world—the shores of the Persian gulf—there is no rain whatever, nor rivers, nor oases. Yet water is got—from the bottom of the sea. Six miles off the shallow coast there is a long line of bubbling springs of ice cold fresh water. Divers capture it in goatskin bags and retail it inland at very moderate prices. Even in an annual drought, which lasts from January to December, and in a temperature that hardly ever sinks below 90 degrees and often rises to over 110 the natives have no worry about their water supply.

Butter fat is quoted at 36 cents instead of 34.

Mildly Censuring Him. "My goodness!" she says, with a pretty scowl. "I think a girl would feel dreadfully foolish if she proposed to a man." "I should think so, too," replies the diffident youth. "But then I suppose there are some girls who are just simply compelled to do the proposing," she sighs. After an hour's consideration of that remark he realizes what she really means.—Woman's World.

Diplomacy. Mrs. A.—That cook was awful, and I am glad she's gone. Mrs. B.—Did you discharge her? Mrs. A.—Oh, no; I wished to avoid a scene. What I did was flatter her so about her cooking that she thought she was underpaid and left.—Boston Transcript.

He Saw Them. "Did you see any sharks when you crossed the ocean, Mr. Spifkins?" asked Miss Purling. "Yes," replied Spifkins sadly; "I played cards with a couple." The sting of a reproach is the truth of it.
