WORK HALTED ON BUILDING

FEDERAL INSPECTOR ORDERS WORK STOPPED.

Construction Not to Be Resumed Until Spring, Say Contractors.

Construction of La Grande's federal building has been halted. Intermittent showers, freezing nights and bad weather in general is held to be responsible for the order issued Saturday night. The government inspector was opposed to allowing the work to proceed on the ground that the cement would freeze frequently before drying and in that way deteriorate the strength of the building. The contractors, Campbell Bros., of Salt Lake, likewise agreed that construction cannot proceed at this time. Last week the masons and bricklayers worked only about a day and a half and the company could not hold its out-of-town workmen upon such a basis. Even if it should turn warm and clear for a week or ten days it is not practical, the contractors say, to attempt to bring the workmen back again because of the uncertainty of favorable weather.

The foundation has been completed and the walls were about to take shape when the halt was ordered. Enough of the foreign stone to give a fair idea of what the walls will be like have been put in place.

WALLOWA MILL CLOSES

BUSY SEASON OF LUMBER MAKING OVER.

Nibley-Mimnaugh Lumber Mill is Closed Down for Winter.

(Wallowa Sun.)
The Nibley-Mimnaugh Lumber company pulled off their logging train Monday for the winter. It has been busy hauling logs since the 14th of March last. They have handled better than 8,000,000 feet of logs—as the mill shows that there has been cut 8,000,000 feet of lumber.
The mill will run till Saturday night when it will close down also, but the box factory and planer will run all winter as heretofore.

The company has handled 12,000,000 feet of lumber this year. They have bought 4,000,000 feet from other mills in and around Wallowa, and have a full yard of all grades and sizes on hand. On account of shortage of cars of late they have been unable to make regular shipments.

The logging train under the guidance of Conductor J. S. Mason for the last two years has not had an accident of any kind, not even mashing up a single, and a part of the time his train has been running over 12 per cent grade.

The logging camp west of town will run all winter, the crew consisting of something like 30 men. The mill will start sawing in the spring as soon as the weather will permit—that is as soon as the ice goes out of the logging pond.

His Early Promise.
"Does my boy," inquired the parent, "seem to have a natural bent in any one direction?"
"Yes, sir," said the teacher. "He gives every indication of being a captain of industry some day. He gets the other boys to do all his work for him."—Chicago Tribune.

Just Our Luck.

AN ECCENTRIC BUTCHER.

His Bills Were Queer, and So Were His Eating and Praying.
In 1729 there died at Romford, in Essex, England, a well known butcher of that town named Wilson. Mr. Wilson, it appears, was notable for his integrity in business and for the gentleness of his manners—two qualities which, perhaps, would scarcely have entitled him to the notice of posterity had he not also exhibited a remarkable addiction to psalmody, extraordinary proficiency in penmanship and a highly peculiar manner of eating his dinner.
Such butcher's bills as he sent to his customers had never been seen before and have never been seen since. They were all exquisitely written by his own hand, but the top line would be, perhaps, in German text, the second in Roman letters, simulating the finest print; beef would be in one style of writing, mutton in another, lamb in a third, while each of these kinds of meat would be still further distinguished by a different color of ink.
He was a great friend to the church, observing all its ordinances and a trifle more. Every Sunday he entertained the congregation with a solo, singing the psalms by himself until the minister came into the desk. And on every fast day, while all the rest of the congregation went home to their refreshment and rest, between morning and evening service, he never quitted the church, but went about from pew to pew repeating the Lord's Prayer and singing appropriate psalms until he had performed these favorite devotions in every pew in the church.
He had a large appetite and seemed determined that all Romford should know it: for, instead of sitting down quietly to dinner in his back parlor, he would usually sally forth into the street with a leg or shoulder of lamb in one hand, a large knife in the other, a small loaf of bread in his pocket and a handful of salt in the bend of the arm which carried the joint; and thus equipped would perambulate the town, eating as he went, until he had consumed the whole of this very substantial meal.—Chambers' Journal.

The boys' appetite is often the source of amazement. If you would have such an appetite take Chamberlain's Tablets. They not only create a healthy appetite, but strengthen the stomach and enable it to do its work naturally. For sale by all dealers. eodwky

OUR SENSITIVE PLANET.

Constant Changes in the Shape of the Earth's Crust.
One naturally thinks of the earth's crust as being exceedingly solid and stable, except perhaps in volcanic regions where earthquakes are of frequent occurrence. As a matter of fact, however, the shell of our planet is extremely sensitive and most delicately balanced, so that under the influence of causes that seem altogether insignificant in comparison with the gigantic bulk and weight of the earth it yields and fluctuates in a most amazing manner.
To an eye so placed as to be capable of taking in at one comprehensive glance the whole round outline of the globe it would not appear of precisely the same shape during an entire day or even an hour. Most of the changes referred to are, of course, very slight when compared with the size of the earth itself.
The operation of atmospheric and oceanic and other similar causes is continually bringing about changes in the shape of the earth's crust. One of the most interesting of the agencies whereby such alterations are effected is the carrying power of rivers. Wherever a great quantity of sand and gravel is being brought down from the interior of a continent and poured into the sea, as, for instance, along the northwestern coast of Europe or the gulf coast of the United States, the weight of the earth's crust is slowly increasing, and the consequence is seen in the gradual subsidence of the shore.
Such a sinking has been going on for thousands of years along the North sea coast and on the continental side of the British channel. A similar depression is occurring on the eastern edge of our own country and along the gulf of Mexico. It has been estimated that the gulf coast is sinking at the rate of nearly two feet in a century.
Corresponding elevations must, of course, occur elsewhere. And to these slow changes in the level of the earth's crust earthquakes are due as well as to the more violent local disturbances created by volcanic action.—Harper's Weekly.
