PERSONALS.

Colon R. Eberhardt, receiver of the land office has gone to Portland to attend a meeting of the State Bar association.

Ed. Dennison, an officer of Pasco, Wn., returned to his home yesterday afternoon with the suspected jewelry store robber caught here by Chief of Police Walden a few days ago.

Marion F. Davis, postmaster at Union accompanied by his daughter, attended the Dierke piano recital at the Baptist church last night and incidentally Mr. Davis was present at the K. of P., celebration.

Mrs. George Ackles is in the city from Portland, today transacting business and looking after property interests here. Mr. Ackles is in splendid health, reports the Portland lady. He was ailing when the family moved to Portland over a year ago.

Mrs. Gilbert and daughter Mrs. Morris, of Haines, returned home today after visiting with Mrs. L. M. Hoyt for a few days. They are accompanied by Miss Hazel Gilbert also of Haines. Mrs. and Mrs. Morris are mother and sister respectively of Mrs. Hoyt, and Miss Gilbert is a niece.

Allen J. Webb, a former La Grande resident now living in Portland, and connected with the Jacob-Stein company is here for a few days on business matters, staying at the Savoy. Mr. Webb is well pleased with his new home and his position but has a hankering after the Grande Ronde valley, notwithstanding.

JUVENILE PRODIGES.

Master Betty at the Age of Twelve Played Richard III.

Of all juvenile prodigies was there ever one to compare with Master Betty, the infant Roscius? The press of the day voted him "a very extraordinary phenomenon. . . . playing marbles in a morning and Richard III. in the evening; . . . an inspired being . . . of exquisite judgment and sensibility. . . . the energy of whose delivery was such as to leave all description at a distance. . . . The intelligence of manner the eloquence of the eye when speech was denied, the rapid yet judicious transitions from prostrate affliction to dignified resentment, are qualities which a Garrick might display." The Edinburgh manager was in fear that the young actor's voice would not fill the house. "My dear sir," said the twelve-year-old genius, "I beg you will be under no apprehensions upon that score, for if my voice does not fill your house my playing will."

Writing for the stage seems always to have attracted the prodigy. Douglas Jerrold wrote his successful farce, "More Frightened Than Hurt," before he was fifteen, and Lope de Vega, the famous Spaniard, was not fourteen when his first play was produced. And William Ireland produced his Shakespeare forgeries, which were good enough to deceive the learned, when he was about fifteen.—London Chronicle.

Measuring Moonlight.

The full moon is said to give a great deal more than twice the light of the half moon. The ratio is approximately as nine to one. Taking advantage of the extreme sensitiveness to light of a selenium cell, experimenters have measured the amount of light coming from the moon at different phases, with the result above mentioned. The reason for the remarkable difference shown is to be found in the varying angles of reflection presented by the roughened surface of our satellite to the sun. The moon is brighter between first quarter and full than between full and last quarter. The cause of this is evident in the more highly reflective character of that part of the moon that lies west of its meridian.

"Sunday Folks."

When Dr. John Cairns went from Scotland to Ireland for rest and travel in 1864 he was at once delighted by discovering from the guides who showed him about that most of the landed gentry were "Sunday folks." "That's a fine castle," he would say, pointing to a big house set like a crown on some rocky hill. "Yis, sorr," said his guide. "Tis Sir John O'Connor's," or "Tis Sir Rory O'More's." He always added, "He's a Sunday man." At last Dr. Cairns grew curious. "What is a Sunday man?" he asked. "Well, sorr, it do be a mon that has so many writs out ag'in him for debt that he stays shut up tight in his house all the week and only comes out on Sunday, when the law protects him." Dr. Cairns' opinion of the landed gentry underwent a change.

Elephants Can't Jump.

"There is one thing no one has ever seen an elephant do either in a circus or out of it, and that is to jump," said a keeper in the Central park menagerie. "The fact is an elephant cannot jump. Because of his great weight he cannot take all four feet off the ground at once. He can make a 100 yard dash at the rate of twenty miles an hour, which is going some, but if he was pursuing an enemy and came to a deep ditch eight feet across he would have to stop short, because it is too wide for him to step it and he is unable to jump. An elephant is a great coward. He will have a fit if a rabbit runs between his feet. He has tremendous strength, but he doesn't know it."—New York Sun.
