Final was spelled on 1911 football in La Grande high school circles last Thursday afternoon and the moleskins have been shelved for future stars of gridiron lore.

Cohorts of the La Grande eleven have justifications in swelling their chests with pride and gloatation for from almost every angle the career of the team was surpassive of hopes ascertained by the most sanguine.

La Grande's ends were the envy of all coaches who saw them work. Garrity was constantly on the extreme wing on one side, developing speed and craftiness in handling forward passes as the season progressed.

FINAL CONTEST SNAPPY ONE

LA GRANDE BACKS SKIRT ELGIN ENDS.

Long Forward Passes, and Two Pretty Drop Kicks Feature of Game.

TABLOID OF THE GAME.

- La Grande:—
Yards gained on straight football, 201.
Forward passes, 102 yards.
Onside kicks, 12 yards.
Elgin:—
Yards gained straight football, 33.
Average punts 22.4 yards.
Forward passes, 10 yards.
Onside kicks, five yards.

Two cleverly executed drop kicks from Bolton's toe, on the 15 yard line once and the 30 yard line once, coupled with a touchdown earned by a series of forward plunges and line bucking, won for La Grande from Elgin last Thursday on the local gridiron, score 11 to 0.

In the second quarter Bolton lifted two beautifully executed drop kicks between the goal posts. Several other attempts were made but with no success, principally because of the heavy wind blowing across the field.

Reynolds at the quarter position bids well to emulate his older brother as a pilot. He runs in punts especially well, dodges well and shows much better headwork in handling the team than any player he has faced this year.

All these virtues radiate principally from "Poe" Caylor. One can't get blood out of a turnip very handily but Caylor has gotten football out of an almost red corpuscle squad this year.

Fortunate in that no injuries were incurred, resultant of much physical development of the men, marking the return to the fold of good graces of Baker, showing a wonderful variety of the newest football, and without a defeat to mar her record, the season has truly been profitable.

and a fumble cost dearly, and from the 45 yard line La Grande punted over for a touchback. On the kickoff Elgin relinquished the ball on the 35 yard line and from there Bolton again hoisted it over the goal post.

In the third down La Grande scored its touchdown. Lottes booted the ball over the Elgin goal twice on the kickoff, forcing a touchback, and a moment later one of the longest forward passes of the year was negotiated to Garrity who went 45 yards on a beautiful execution.

In the same quarter Elgin held for downs on its two yard line following long gains by Garrity, Reynolds, Garrity and Bolton.

Punting was impossible except with the gale but Ralston sent his spirals lower, consequently covering more ground by a few yards on the average than Flagg did.

Dodging and shedding tacklers, enabling La Grande backs to tear off long runs were features of the game. Lottes electrified the Turkey day audience at the opening of the game by taking a forward pass and going 27 yards to the four yard line when Elgin held for downs.

BASEBALL NOTES

It looks as if "Kid" Elberfeld would land a berth as manager of some minor league team.

The Bloomington club of the Three-I league, will perhaps engage Harry Ray, the old Cleveland player, as pilot next season.

If Patsy Donovan doesn't catch on as manager of some big league team he will stick with the Boston Red Sox and act as scout.

Ted Sullivan, the well known baseball scout, is to publish a weekly sporting paper modeled after Sporting Life and Sporting News.

President McCaffery, of the Toronto Baseball club, declares that he is willing to spend $50,000 to get a pennant winner for Toronto next season.

Manager Roger Bresnahan, of the Cardinals, says that he has 33 players on his list and is eager to sell, trade or give away about eight of them.

Walter S. Woods has been engaged as coach for the Dartmouth baseball squad. During his career on the diamond he played with the Chicago and Pittsburgh Nationals, and the Louisville, Buffalo and Troy teams.

WITH THE BOXERS.

Tommy Ryan, instructor of boxing at Multnomah club, and at one time the champion of the country in his class, has been appealed to to settle a local wager.

Kid McCoy is in Paris gathering some easy money by working against the French boxers.

Ed McGoorty has called off his bout with Jim Howard, scheduled for Dec. 4, at Fond du Lac, Wis., on account of an injury to his hand.

The New York Boxing commission has turned into the state treasury $10,000 so far this year in commissions received from various boxing clubs.

NEW BASKETBALL RULES ARE OUT

ONE MINOR CHANGE OVER LAST YEAR

Worded Slightly Different but Meaning the Same.

New basketball rule books have arrived and fortunately for the fans they will not have to learn them all over again. As far as the average spectator is concerned there are no perceptible changes in the rules this year, over last.

One week from tonight the La Grande basketball team (not to be confused with the high school team) has hopes of playing Union here.

Captain Ralston will issue his call for recruits and regulars of basketball aspirations within a few days for football is now a matter of reminiscence and not fact and the strenuous knee-barking pastime is at hand.

The La Grande high school has yet to select a manager for its quintet this year. Prof. Nelbauer was selected last year but didn't return to his position here, hence the vacancy in the managerial department.

With all of last year's team intact and three or four new men that are as good as the regulars and a whole crop of youngsters growing into good form, the race for places on the first squad of the high school will be hair-raising, to say the least.

Charley Williams, the Cubs' secretary, says that major league umpires should go on the spring training trips with the players.

FOOTBALL NOTES

They say that "Sam" White, the Princeton star, doesn't really like football, but loves baseball.

Coach "Hurry Up" Yost is trying to book a game for his Michigan eleven against Princeton in 1912.

In five games this year the Villanova eleven did not score a point, while its opponents were making 83 points.

Twenty members of the Dartmouth football squad were guests of the Harvard A. A. at the Yale-Harvard game.

Just to show how easy it is to dope out football results. Cornell defeated Michigan; Chicago downed Cornell and Minnesota whaled the life out of Chicago.
