Rock Creek Items.

Delightful weather crowned the last half of Thanksgiving month and the day itself was charming. The snow that had fallen in the earlier part of November has disappeared in many places, and a rather disagreeable wind that prevailed a few days has passed over, leaving the mercury ranging among the 40 degrees and conditions are quite pleasant.

Charley Broadhurst, a pioneer homesteader in the Rock Creek country and living alone, took a fine young Plymouth Rock to Mrs. Burnap with a request that it be served for a Thanksgiving dinner, so a few neighbors were invited in, among whom were H. F. Spears, and his aged mother, and squash pie and doughnuts to give it a real New England coloring, minus the cranberry sauce, were partaken of and a pleasant social repast was heartily enjoyed. Although church bells were too far distant to be heard, a feeling of true thankfulness was expressed, that the disastrous storms visiting the Sound cities and many other places had been spared us.

The school board of district No. 32 met at the home of Wm. Burnap, junior member of the body, for the purpose of examining and acting on the bids called for, to build a school house.

The contract fell to H. F. Spears. The building is to be of logs 16x24 feet but covered with rubber roofing, and to be completed by July 1, 1911. It is neither large nor magnificent but it serves its purpose as well as the Little Red School House of poetic fame. It will be a success and perhaps a foundation for greater knowledge in future years to its studious occupants and a reward to its promoters.

How Little Things Count

Here is a Dime. Save it. Not a large amount, you say? No, you're right, yet it represents ten per cent. interest on one dollar for a year. It's the little things that count in this life. History tells us that the Duke of Wellington attributes the victory of the Allies at Waterloo to the closing of the Hugomont Castle gates by James MacDonnell and John Graham. It was a small thing. But the results have been marvelous as we look back over the intervening years. Philip D. Armour knew the value of little things. They say he packed everything but the last breath of a hog—utilizing the waste in the manufacture of by-products made him wealthy. The small boy by sticking his finger in the leak in the dam saved Holland from devastation. A few drops of water on a stone make no impression—the constant drip wears away the stone. The little point on the auger prepares the way for the large bored hole. A single grain of corn produces from one to two perfect ears. And so the LITTLE DIME is a part of a dollar. Dollars at interest produce dollars just as surely as the seed sown on rich ground brings forth an abundant harvest. Then save the DIME. Watch it grow.
