FOR THE CHILDREN ALSO FOR GROWN PERSONS QUICK - SAFE - RELIABLE NO OPIATES NO NARCOTICS FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND

A COMMON COLD neglected may go quickly into CROUP, BRONCHITIS, or PNEUMONIA which often means a sudden fatality. Keep FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND always in the house and give at first sign of a cold. Refuse substitutes.

John Parsons, Stewart, Ohio, writes "We use Foley's Honey & Tar compound as our best and only cough remedy. It never fails to cure any of my seven children of cough. My 2-months' old baby has had a most severe cough which our doctor said he could not cure and that baby would surely die. Several of our relations and neighbors had gathered to witness the ending of the child's life. Two bottles of Foley's Honey & Tar compound cured the child and he is alive and well today."

COLORED FOLKS MARRIED

MANY WHITE PEOPLE ATTEND MARRIAGE CEREMONY.

Colored Couple Attends Contracting Party at Quiet Wedding.

Yesterday evening in the gloaming at the hospitable home of Mrs. Zuber occurred the nuptial ceremony whereby Miss Myrtle Pullman of Kansas City, Kansas became Mrs. James Hudson. The contracting parties are very respectable and genteel appearing colored folks and were attended by a large concourse of their white friends, about 20 in number. Mr. and Mrs. William J. Shaw were best man and best woman.

After the chaste and simple but impressive ritualistic ceremony of the Methodist Episcopal church rendered by Dr. J. D. Gillilan, dainty refreshments were served and the jovial company scattered at an early hour. They will make their home on Adams avenue.

WHEN MORRIS WAS BURIED.

Simple Village Funeral of the Great Artist and Poet.

In his death William Morris, who practiced the ideal industry that Ruskin preached, was as simple and as near common things and common people as he had always sought to be in life. He was taken from London to the ancient village of Lechlade—so begins the lovely description in the late Henry Demarest Lloyd's "Mazzini and Other Essays"—to be buried near Kelmescott Manor House, where his own country home had been.

In accordance with his wishes, the windows of his town house were not darkened, and no emblem of conventional mourning was shown. There was no hearse to receive his coffin as it was taken out of the train which bore it to Lechlade.

Only down the hill came a harvest wagon. Round and through its yellow framework were twisted vines and branches of willow, rooting it and hanging down over the red wheels. A bed of moss fresh from the woods was spread on the bottom. On this the great artist was laid.

Wreaths of flowers were hung round the sides of the rack. Vine leaves were twisted in the bridle of the team mare. The carter took her by the head, and the rest of the party walked behind to the graveyard.

The church is a little stone building of the twelfth century which Morris had helped to preserve. It happened to be decorated as for a festival. The fruits of the year were spread round. There were pumpkins and marrows and great red and yellow apples on the seats in the porch, and red autumn leaves hung from the pillars.

The coffin was of plain, unpolished oak. The handles were of iron, fashioned by the blacksmith. There was no inscription but name and dates.

It was simply a village funeral, just as he wished it to be.

You Can't Lose It.

"Of course," said the optimist, "if a man gets into the habit of hunting trouble he's sure to find it."
 "Yes," replied the pessimist, "and if he's so lazy that he always tries to avoid it it will find him. So what's the difference?"—Catholic Standard and Times.

His Only Worry.

Graphter—I've got my hooks out for a swell political office, big salary and all that. Jenkins—Do you think you can fill it? Graphter—Never thought of that. What's worrying me is whether I'll be able to get it.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Something New.

"Your sno-storm made a hit."
 "I knew it would," declared the proud playwright.
 "Yes; they turned it loose in the drawing room scene."—Exchange.

Its Location.
 Gladys Roxton—And the duke is so brave, papa! Why, he declares he intends to become an aviator. Papa—H'm! He does, eh? Wants to visit his castle, I suppose?—Puck.

A Wily Mocking Bird.

A naturalist tells of a droll exhibition of fun witnessed by a mocking bird. It had only recently been captured and was placed near another cage in which were two canaries, both excellent singers. The mocking bird at first seemed to be struck dumb by his voluble neighbors; but, as it turned out afterward, he was only biding his time. For several days he remained silent, taking notes, until he had mastered their song, when one day, without even a preliminary rehearsal, he burst out into a canary song in a loud, ringing tone that struck his yellow throated neighbors mute with astonishment. After this it was a favorite amusement of his to drown the voices of the canaries with his own loud notes whenever they attempted to sing.—Detroit Free Press.

German English.

While visiting a small manufacturing town in Germany last summer a New York woman bought a tortoise shell hair ornament which was badly injured through a servant's carelessness. The saleswoman to whom it was returned with a request to have it repaired, wishing probably to air her English, sent it back to the hotel with this note: "The hair comb sending to me is heavy to repair whilst the pieces only through wire fastening can be. I would the destroy of the hair comb resolve—then could the lovely ornamental for other one hair comb be accomplish."—New York Tribune.

His Suspicion.

"Well, whaddy you want?"
 "I am the man who was married in the cage of wildcats."
 "I asted ye whaddy you want."
 "I thought I would like to look into the cage again. I fear I left my wife there and took one of the wildcats."—Houston Post.
