Afraid of the Suffragettes.

London, Jan. 25.—Great interest is being taken in the mass meeting which A. Bonar Law is to address at the Albert hall tomorrow. The speech will be the first pronouncement made by Mr. Law in London since his election as leader of the opposition in the house of commons. Extraordinary precautions are being taken to prevent a possible demonstration by the militant suffragists. Women will be admitted to one section of the hall only, and no woman's ticket has been issued without a personal guarantee that the holder will not disturb the proceedings.

VANITY FAIR COMING SOON

ISIS TO RUN FEATURES FILMS MONDAY AND TUESDAY.

Piece Adapted From Thackeray's Masterpiece, "Vanity Fair."

"Vanity Fair" will be shown at the Isis Monday and Tuesday, January 29 and 30. The marvelous popularity and world wide fame of the Vitagraph three reel subject, "A Tale of Two Cities," bids fair to be surpassed by this pre-eminently triumphant work of art. Manager Sherwood of the popular picture house, was fortunate in securing this great work for the benefit of his patrons. Below is a synopsis of the first reel. In tomorrow and Saturday's issues will be published a synopsis of the second and third reels.

Reel No. 1.—Amelia Sedley, accompanied by her chum, Miss Beck Sharpe returns from boarding school. Becky is a natural born flirt, who makes a conquest with almost every man she meets. Bashful Joseph Sedley falls desperately in love with her and becomes her devoted slave. He takes her to Vauxhall Gardens, where he makes an ass of himself, is very much ashamed of his conduct, refuses to keep his appointment with Becky the next day, sailing for Scotland to escape her wiles. Becky is very much piqued at the loss of so desirable a "catch" as Joseph, and manifests her chagrin in a display of temper to which she gives vent by tearing up Joseph's notes.

Amelia, with her gentle sweetness, hands Becky a letter from Sir Pitt Crawley, requesting her to repair to Queen's Crawley at once. She makes preparations to leave without delay; the next morning bright and early she takes her departure to enter Sir Pitt's household as a governess, where she meets Rawdon Crawley, youngest son of Sir Pitt, who falls captive to her charms, bringing upon himself the displeasure of the whole Pitt family, being left out of his aunt's will. He, notwithstanding this, marries Becky. (To Be Continued)
