Almost Lost His Life.

S. A. Stid, of Mason, Mich., will never forget his terrible exposure to a merciless storm. "It gave me a dreadful cold," he writes, "that caused severe pains in my chest, so it was hard for me to breathe. A neighbor gave me several doses of Dr. King's New Discovery which brought great relief. The doctor said I was on the verge of pneumonia, but to continue with the Discovery. I did so and two bottles completely cured me." Use only this quick, safe reliable medicine for coughs, colds, or any throat or lung trouble. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

This is the season of the year when mothers feel very much concerned over the frequent colds contracted by their children, and have abundant reason for it as every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality and paves the way for the more serious diseases that so often follow. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures, and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all dealers.

MABEL WARNER IS ACQUITTED

CRIMINAL PROSECUTION ENDS IN DEFEAT.

Notorious Case at Pendleton Comes to an End.

Mabel Young Warner of Pendleton on trial since last Monday on a charge of forgery in connection with the estate of her uncle, J. W. Young of Weston, was acquitted at midnight Sunday. The jury, which retired at 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening, argued for three hours and a half before bringing in the verdict of acquittal, according to Attorney J. F. Baker who returned Sunday morning from Pendleton, where for three days he had been held as a witness in the case.

This is the third time Mrs. Warner has been on trial on a similar case but as she was tried on a criminal offense this time the matter rests. No case in Oregon in recent years has stirred up the feeling or occupied the time this case has.

Referring to the last day of the trial a dispatch dated on Saturday from Pendleton, says:

The taking of testimony was concluded at exactly 12 o'clock today, the afternoon and evening being consumed with the arguments of the attorneys and the instructions of the judge, the case being turned over to the jury at 8:30.

The defense suddenly brought its case to a close by the introduction of three witnesses who swore that the general reputation of W. W. Williams, handwriting expert of Portland, was not good as to truth. They were H. H. Collier, a former attorney of this city, later of St. Johns, but now of Portland, Warren Merchant, of St. John, and J. W. King of North Yamhill.

Many Witnesses Uncalled.

A large number of witnesses subpoenaed by the defense were left uncalled.

In rebuttal the state summoned a dozen of leading business and professional men of Pendleton, who testified that John Lawrey's reputation for truth was good. Lawrey is the man who testified that Mabel Warner offered him $5,000 for a will that would stand the test of the courts.

Mrs. Dora Bevis, of Walla Walla, who testified that she and her sister, Mrs. Mary Eastman, had been practically raised by J. W. Young, declared to her the second winter before his death that he "had been mixed up with Mabel and her mother, but that he did not want to have anything more to do with them."

Mrs. Chance Rodgers, niece of Mr. Young, told of having heard her uncle say in reference to Mabel and her mother:

Young's Declaration Strong.

"I am glad to be rid of that outfit." She also swore that Young had told of having seen Mrs. Warner in the depot at Pendleton and of having refused to shake hands with her.

Warner was put on the stand in rebuttal and swore that instead of refusing to shake hands with her, her uncle had greeted her warmly and kissed her.

In their arguments to the jury counsel for the state did not deny Young had taken the girl into his home, had cared for and educated her and had intended at that time to leave her his property, but they contended that there was a serious break when the girl left school to get married, abandoned him in his old age and went upon the vaudeville stage. This happened 12 years before his death, and they insisted there had never been a reconciliation.
