Wherever you see La Grande Milling Co. stamped on the sack, you're right because we only put our name on the good kind. So in ordering your next sack please do not say, "Send me a sack of flour," but specify that Blue Stem kind. It's really good. 2-6-3t

LAST NIGHT OF A GREAT STORY

“ARRAH-NA-POGUE” AT THE ISIS PLEASES LARGE NUMBERS.

Beautiful Irish Story Carrying With It Costumes and Habits of Ireland. “Arrah-Na-Pogue,” rich in its setting, rich in its story of life in Ireland, will appear at the Isis tonight for the last time and those who have not seen it should take advantage of the opportunity. The play is one of those clean, restful entertainments that makes one feel better for having seen it.

“It is one of the very best films I have ever put on in this theatre,” said Manager Sherwood of the Isis today. “Not a person who sees it fails to give commendation and rejoices at having attended the Isis while this picture was on. You will observe nothing has been omitted in carrying the thread of the story, neither has there been anything overlooked in the costumes and settings. It is almost as nearly perfect as the picture making art has ever attained and with considerable satisfaction I engaged it for the entertainment of the people of La Grande.”

The Red Cross Drug Store

Successor to
To The Wright Drug Company

L. A. WRIGHT, a partner in the Wright Drug Store, a popular and up-to-date store in this city, has disposed of all his interests in the store to W. H. Reuter, his former partner, who will now be owner and manager.

THE RED CROSS DRUG STORE will be the store's new name hereafter, but the telephone number is the same, the efficiency is the same, the same clerks will be employed, the same attention to business, the same qualities that made the Wright Drug Store efficient and trustworthy will be used to make The Red Cross Drug Store the leading emporium of drugs and Sundries in Eastern Oregon.

WE HAVE ABIDING FAITH in La Grande, in its people and its future. Our qualifications to operate and conduct a drug store are such that we feel justified in expecting the same from the buying public.

NEW VENTURE TO OPEN SOON

STALLION EXCHANGE LATEST ADDITION TO INDUSTRIES.

Will Conduct Exchange on Fifth Street—Comes From Union Here

Fred Billings, formerly of Union and a noted breeder of good horses, is to embark in business in La Grande at once and will establish a stallion exchange. He will open for business one block south of the Kirtley livery barn.

It is Mr. Billings' intention to deal in the exchange of highly bred stallions and to market the home crop of stallions raised in this valley. This has been a branch of the horse business which heretofore has not had proper attention for the home product is said, is far superior to the imported stock. Each horse seems to possess not only the size, form and appearance but he is also equipped with extraordinary lung power and power of endurance which does not always obtain in horses imported from a lower altitude.

It is believed the venture of Mr. Billings will prove successful in every way.
