"HAZEL MANOR" REHEARSED

OUTLOOK FOR SNAPPY HOME TA LENT IS GOOD.

Home Talent Will Produce Locally-Written Plot Friday Night.

The rehearsals of the play, "Hazel Manor," have been progressing nicely owing to the strenuous work which the club has been doing until it is now ready to be presented. The local interest is manifest in the queries which are heard concerning it.

The setting of the drama is in Massachusetts. Two chums from childhood, Inez Merlin and Lyle Burns part to make their way in the world. Unknown to each other, Inez becomes the heiress to her uncle, Judge Randolph Fernsworth's estate. Hazel Manor, while Lyle becomes his private secretary.

Inez, against her will, becomes betrothed to her cousin, Black Curtis, who is the only other heir and whom she detests. Thinking that perhaps Burns might prove a hindrance to his obtaining the judge's wealth Black plans to place him in a position whereby he will be of no trouble. However, he fails to consider the two children, Daisy and Tommy, who are continually bringing bright bits of humor into play. The net which Black Curtis is weaving gradually closes about himself aided by the distrust of his professed real sweetheart, Annie Deal.

All lovers of high grade amateur dramatics should not fail to see Hazel Manor.
