

NO CAUSE TO DOUBT.

A Statement of Facts Backed by a Strong Guarantee.

We guarantee immediate and positive relief to all sufferers from constipation. In every case where our remedy fails to do this we will return the money paid us for it.

Recall Orderlies are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night, do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects.

Recall Orderlies are unsurpassable and ideal for the use of children, old folks and delicate persons. We cannot too highly recommend them to all sufferers from any form of constipation and its attendant evils.

LAVEY PROVIDES $4000 BONDS

FORMER PUBLICITY MANAGER IN FEDERAL TOILS.

Is Accused of Bogus Realty Transactions In Portland.

La Grande acquaintance at P. C. Lavey, at one time publicity manager for the La Grande Commercial club, will be interested in the following from a Portland paper:

Patrick C. Lavey, the real estate operator under arrest charged with fraudulent use of the mails in promoting land sales, renewed his bonds for $4,000 before United States Commissioner A. M. Cannon at noon today.

Inasmuch as the federal grand jury is now in session, it is almost certain that Lavey's case will be considered within the next few days. There are a number of cases to 7890$... etain a few cases to be disposed of first, but the Lavey operations can probably be reached before the end of the week.

While the federal prosecutors assert they have a strong case against Lavey, the latter is equally insistent that he will be acquitted. He says he is ready to appear before the inquisitorial board and is anxious to have such preliminaries disposed of as soon as possible so as to return to San Francisco and close up some deals he was working out at the time of his arrest.

"I am ready to go to trial right now," said Lavey, after his permanent bonds had been filed. "The fact that for the last 20 months I have been refunding money on the land contracts involved in the charges against me, and have reduced my obligations on that score from a total of over $60,000 to about $7,500 at the present time, seems to me to be evidence enough that I have been doing the square thing by my customers. In another six months I shall have every cent of this indebtedness liquidated."

SELECT CULLINGS

Perils of Gasoline.

The fire prevention committee of the Rochester chamber of commerce, in the course of its campaign of education against home fire dangers, has issued a circular on gasoline and its perils in which it says: "A pint of gasoline left open in a basin in a room at a normal or average temperature will entirely evaporate in twenty-four hours. The gasoline vapor is heavier than the air and sinks immediately to the floor and unless it is disturbed by active air currents will remain in the room, for many hours. One pint of gasoline will make 200 cubic feet of explosive mixture. Without becoming too scientific it may be said that this gasoline vapor is seven times more powerful than gunpowder. It is not necessary to touch a match to it. A spark from the heel of a shoe striking a tack or nail will explode the vapor. A lighted gas jet will produce the same result. Keep gasoline away from every kind of flame, even if that flame is inclosed, as in a stove or furnace.

Claim They Can "Grow" Meat. Artificial production of food by merely chemical processes has always been a dream of the scientific man. A recent discovery brings this within the possibilities, provided the chemist is allowed an organic cell to start with. Professor W. H. Lewis and his wife of Johns Hopkins are reported to have caused cellular substances to grow indefinitely outside of the organisms to which they originally belonged. Dr. Lewis now suggests that this may enable men to "grow" meat on a commercial scale. A commentator says: "What Dr. Lewis and his wife claim to have actually accomplished is this: They have taken pieces of chicken, placed them in a saline solution and grown chicken meat. They have discovered that it is possible to cut off some of this chicken meat without hindering further growth, and the process can be repeated indefinitely. They also claim that the process can be applied to any kind of flesh."—Chicago News.

The Smallest Armies. If ever the dream of the disarmament of the world shall be realized there are several countries that would not have much to do in this line—as, for instance, Monaco, whose army consists of seventy-five guards, seventy-five carabinieri and twenty firemen. The next smallest army is that of Luxembourg, with its 135 gendarmes, 170 volunteers and thirty musketeers. In the republic of San Marino they can put in the field a total of nine companies of 850 men and thirty-eight officers, commanded by a marshal. The army on a peace footing consists of one company of sixty men. The most amusing of all the "armies," however, is that of Liberia. That country's fighting force is composed of 700 men and 800 officers, but the latter are evidently deemed very terrible by their own government since the republic issues proclamations of neutrality when wars break out between any of the powers.

Dickens Liked Literary Names. The death of Alfred Tennyson Dickens recalls the great novelist's penchant for naming his children after distinguished literary men. His eldest son, born in 1837, he christened after himself, Charles Cullford Box, his first daughter he named simply Mary; the second daughter, Kate Maerdy; the second son, born in 1841, Walter Landon; the third, born in 1844, Francis Jeffrey; the fourth, Alfred Tennyson; the fifth, Sydney Smith; the sixth, Henry Fielding; and the seventh, Edward Bulwer Lytton. Of these only Henry Fielding, who, like his namesake, follows the law, now survives. One wonders somewhat why he passed over his great friend John Forster and his greatest contemporary, Thackeray.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Rainbow Bridge. Only twenty-five white men, it is said, have as yet beheld the most remarkable natural bridge in the world—the Rainbow bridge of southern Utah, compared with which the famous Natural bridge of Virginia is almost insignificant. The Rainbow bridge is 300 feet high and has a span of 278 feet. The Virginia bridge has a span of only forty-five feet and is 200 feet high. The Rainbow bridge arch exceeds the length of the longest masonry arch in the world by sixty-five feet.

Indians in the United States. According to the most reliable authorities, there are at the present time in the United States about 323,000 Indians, to be found as follows: One hundred and seventeen thousand in Oklahoma; 28,000 in the Dakota; 11,000 in Minnesota; 10,000 in Montana; 51,000 in New Mexico; Nevada and Arizona; 34,000 in California and the Pacific states; 17,000 in Michigan and Wisconsin; 1,474 in New York, with a few hundreds scattered through South Carolina, North Carolina and Florida.
