PENDLETON WINS CONTEST

SPURTS DON'T COME OFTEN
ENOUGH FOR LOCALS.

Fortunate Turn of Luck Closes Game
With Pendleton Leading.

Fortune's spindle swung and stopped with good result to Pendleton last night before an abbreviated but excited crowd of storm daring basketball fans at the high school gymnasium when the wheat town cohorts sneaked out a victory over the La Grande city team by a margin of one point, gained from a thrilling basket a moment before the whistle blew. Pendleton probably earned its victory in view of the uneven performance of the home guard, but had the spindle of fortune been less mean to La Grande the locals would have won by a margin of one or two. The first half was manifestly in favor of Pendleton. At no time was the margin wide but Pendleton had the consistent team work, snap and ginger and its guards were classically dropping baskets from any place on the floor that opportunity presented itself. In the second half the guarding was more loose and the Pendleton forwards did most of the scoring principally because of the superior endurance that allowed the nifty forwards to get away from their guards altogether too frequently. Fee and Strain are gifted with fast feet and sure eyes.

It was a laborious game. The home guard got together at spurts and in every instance ran far ahead of the visitors. Such a condition arose just before the end of the last half when for a few minutes the real clabre of the locals displayed itself and as long as it lasted, Pendleton was bested. The spurt broke and cogs clogged a moment too soon and Pendleton took down the lead and got one point the best when the time was up. It was a see-saw affair, lacking even speed but was exciting through the brilliant basket shooting of the visitors, and home players alike. Especially Jordan, the guard, dropped baskets from the middle of the floor on the dead run repeatedly. Lindsey and Hollister each got difficult baskets from hard angles, but not enough to keep ahead of the steady drilling of the visitors from over the mountains.

Particulars of the Game.
The lineup for Pendleton—Strain, rf, Houser, c, Jordan guard, C. Hampton guard, Fee forward.

For La Grande—Hollister and Lindsey, forwards, V. Bean, center, A. Bean, Woods and Geddes guards.

"The fairest referee, the cleanest, hardest and most interesting game I ever saw," is the pretty compliment paid the city team management and Referee Hubler, by Prof. Mable, who has charge of the Pendleton team.
