Imbler, Feb. 27.—(Special)—Thirteen inches of snow have fallen over the Sandridge and not a particle of wind. As a result the middle valley is a beautiful place to behold and panorama views of the district have been taken by camera artists.

COVE ITEMS OF INTEREST

BAD ROADS ARE MENACE TO COVE COMMUNITY.

Storm Felt at Cove Severely—Electric Wires Down and Broken.

Cove, Feb. 27. — (Special) — Carl Stackland just returned from a business trip to Portland.

A number of families are quarantined for scarlet fever.

The school entertainment given last Friday evening at the Mitchell hall was fairly well attended, a good many not being present on account of the bad roads and the scarlet fever.

A number of cars of apples were shipped out the past week, by F. B. Bell and the Mt. Fannie Fruit company. We understand the demand for apples is some better than it was early in the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Peal, recently from Walla Walla, are again residents of Cove. They are estimable people and we are pleased to have the mback.

August Anderson and wife from California who have been visiting Mr. Anderson's brothers, Businon and Logan for several weeks started on their return Monday of this week.

Cove and vicinity at the present time is experiencing some of the worst roads in its history. If you are going to start out on a trip, better go afoot or horseback, but an aeroplane would be preferable to either.

Some of the Covites and I guess it isn't limited to Cove, either, are up in arms over the high taxes for 1912. The reason is going to be investigated at a meeting to be held at La Grande Tuesday of this week, with the hopes that a remedy may be had in the future. We are going to charter a special train to take us to the tax meeting. Last Friday morning snow and sleet covered the telephone and electric light wires to a diameter of four or five inches. A number of electric light wires and poles were broken by the great weight. It was lucky no one was injured as the current was on for some time while the wires were down.
